An aerial photograph of Neuschwanstein Castle, a large, ornate, light-colored stone structure with multiple towers and turrets, situated on a steep, forested hillside. The castle is surrounded by dense green trees. In the background, a small village with red-roofed buildings is visible, along with a body of water and distant mountains under a hazy sky. The overall color palette is dominated by greens, blues, and the light tones of the castle.

Eight hundred years ago castles stood on high hills and the yet untouched forests, more abundantly peopled with the winged and walking creatures of God's Creation, held greater domain over the earth. In this time lived St. Francis, "Nature's Troubadour." The San Fran of 1956 purposes to view more closely the life and spirit of this our founder. Our students share in the great heritage of this Saint, for consciously or unconsciously, working through the extension of himself in his followers, his powerful personality has reached down through the years and left an irrevocable impress on all of us.

Brother Timothy in his third year at the helm of the Prep.

Rev. Brother Alphonsus, O.S.F.
Assistant Principal

In addition to his January appointment as Assistant Principal, the amazing scope of Brother Alphonsus' activities include: teaching sixth term Religion classes; moderating the Fathers' Club, the Student Council, the Press Club, Jay Vee and Varsity Basketball; revising the Crown yearly; participating on both the Athletic Control Board and the Committee on Extracurricular Activities; and, finally, carrying out the duties of School Treasurer.

Principal's Message

Pope Leo XIII once said that the Order of Saint Francis was "a most powerful antidote against all the evils which harass the present age". And surely, transcending space and time, the Spirit of Saint Francis falls across the face of the contemporary world like a br  ze in the desert. Against an era dedicated to the acquisition of material things he champions a poverty that goes singing through the snow despite its privations; and against a background of modern smoky industrialism he appears in a joy that makes him seem the first to have ever really appreciated the towering miracle of nature's creation. So, of course, with all Franciscans, I must find satisfaction in any effort to bring before our students the magnetic personality of our founding father.

Nevertheless, may this one admonition be injected. Too often the zest, fun, and vitality which Francis drew from life is pictured as the result of a walk in the woods on a summer's day. A false sentimentalism like this seems to plague many of the saints. In actuality Francis had to endure solitary trials not without suffering before he reached the zenith of joy in which he is typically pictured. He has been likened to a man who painfully dug his way to the heart of the earth. And only once passed its central core of darkness did he begin to rise upwards and into the light.

Thus, the shouldering of difficulties is as inherent in the example of Francis as is the freedom of his way of life. That this example can provide a man with the most satisfying consequences for himself is best enunciated by Chesterton's description of the death of this Saint: "... the stars that passed above the gaunt and wasted corpse stark upon the rocky floor had for once, in all their shining cycles round the world of laboring humanity, looked down upon a happy man."

Brother Timothy O'S

in the Twentieth

The birth of a child in a dark house, lifting its doom—so has the coming of Saint Francis upon the earth been described. His great mission was to bring a wonderfully new freshness to Christianity. Unfortunately, after eleven hundred years of existence it had, for many, become dull. Francis accomplished his task by seizing upon the treasures of Christendom which had for centuries been walled up within fortress-like monasteries. And, like some fanatical spendthrift, he scattered their wealth over the wide world.

Pope Innocent the Third's approval of the movement planted the first seeds. Living in the world with only the barest necessities, the steadily growing band of Friars, unlike any monks of an earlier time, were free to roam the countryside sowing their spirit. Gradually roots took hold. Leading the success of the Franciscan plan was an overflowing charity in the heart of its leader. Realizing that to love something a man must first know and understand it, he sought to lay open God's heart by mirroring Its love for men in his own conduct toward them. Thus came to be circulated the near blasphemy, "He listens to those to whom God Himself will not listen."

... in a solicitude for the things of God's Creation

The roots of the new movement held fast and buds appeared as the Franciscans grew in number. A Second Order for women and a Third Order for lay persons followed quickly the creation of the original First Order for religious men. The words of the journeying Francis blossomed and re-blossomed. Then the wind rose, scattered the pollen, and dispersed the Franciscan way of life around the world. Thus out of the shadows of the past, removed in time by some eight hundred years, and removed in space by some five thousand miles, this same Spirit of Saint Francis is seen enduring in our school . . .

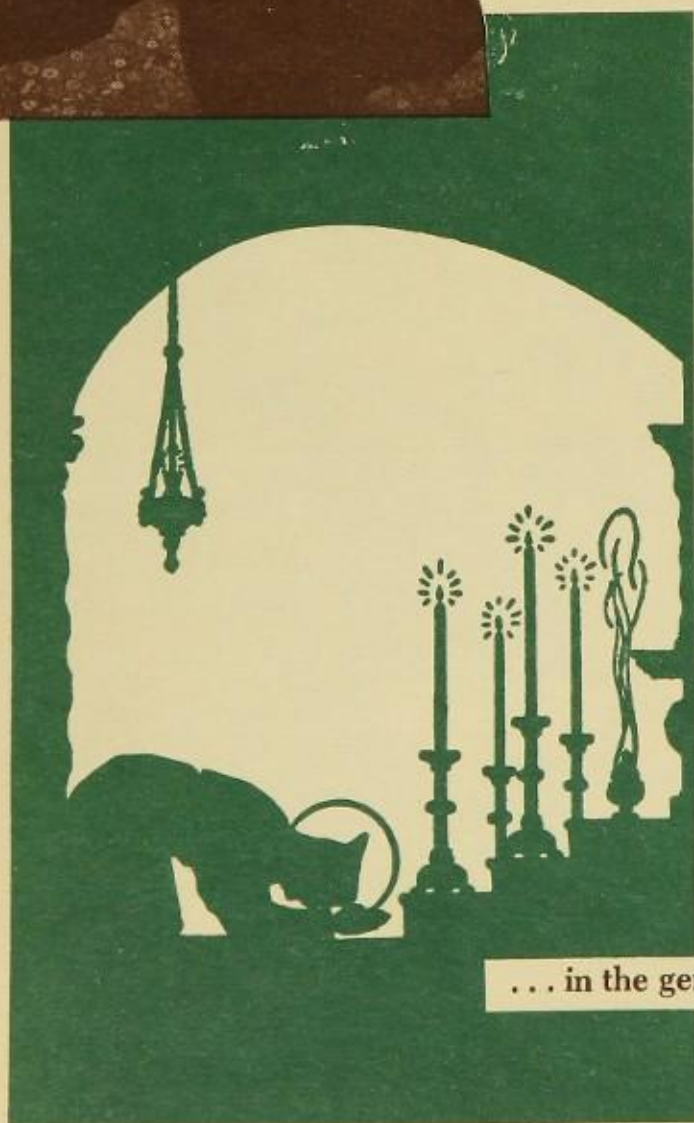

. . . in a zealously in activities

... in the continuance of the Third Order among our students

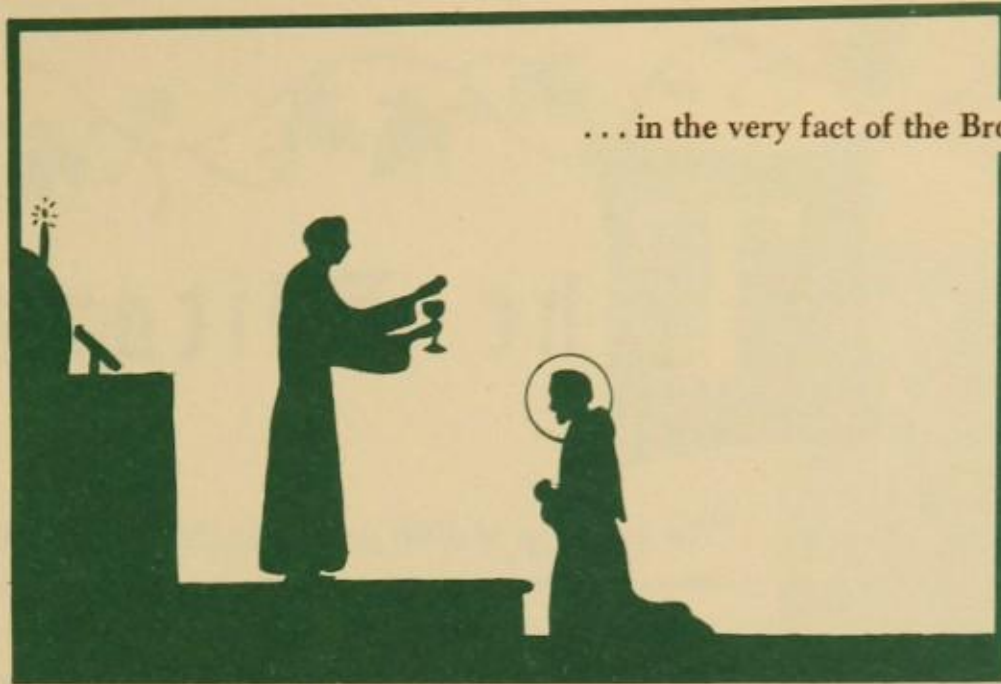

... in instructing the young although techniques might differ

... in the generous offering of self by the taking of vows

... in the very fact of the Brotherhood of our faculty

... in a dedication to a crucified God

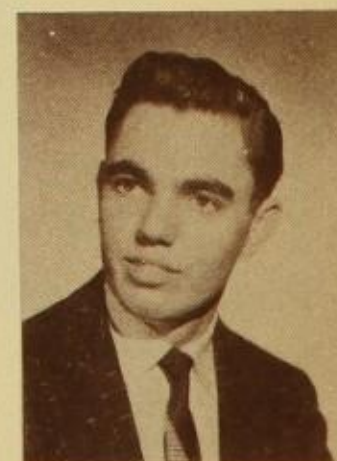

... in many moods of joy

The Editors Approach

The San Fran of 1956 depicts the life of Saint Francis. Our book represents an attempt to capture some part of the singularly different Spirit which overflowed from within the Saint. The Staff chose this theme because it seemed to us that we who enjoyed the privilege of receiving an education under the guidance of the Franciscan Brothers were constantly being bombarded with the words "Franciscan Spirit". And yet no precise interpretation of their true meaning existed. This was the task we set for ourselves.

The cause for the lack of precise definition was soon discovered. The Spirit we sought had the quality of all spiritual things—it could not be completely reduced to words. We knew it existed and understood it by a kind of instinct as in the way an unreasoning child senses the presence of its mother. Ultimately it was realized that the Spirit was a mystery because its founder was a mystery. Who could unravel all the paradoxes of Francis of Assisi? "... why did the poet who praised his lord the sun often hide himself in a dark cavern, why was the saint who was so gentle with his Brother the Wolf so harsh to his Brother the Ass (as he nicknamed his own body), why did the troubadour who said that love set his heart on fire separate himself from women, why did the singer who rejoiced in the strength and gait of the fire deliberately roll himself in the snow, why did the Little Poor Man who had stripped himself of everything and named himself as nothing, take the same title that had been the wild vaunt of the vain Asiatic autocrat, and called himself the Brother of the Sun and Moon?" Such were some of the seeming contradictions into which our research led us.

Franciscanism

But in our fumbling, one thing of importance was perceived. If varied incidents in the career of Francis or his followers were related or pictured, the viewer of these incidents inevitably took to himself something more of that intangible Spirit which had not existed before. Such, therefore, is the primary method employed in the pages of this annual through which we endeavor to cast the light of realization on Saint Francis and his tradition.

Of course, following from our investigations some few definable points of the Franciscan ideal did come to the surface. However inadequate they may be to sum up the whole meaning of Franciscanism, we shall here indicate them. First there is a generous impulse toward a love that reaches out to God, nature, and man. In the wake of this love is a community spirit of sharing one another's fortunes and misfortunes. Secondly, surrounding the whole movement is an air of simplicity which fosters the growth of individual personality. Since there are no set molds it may truly be said that every Franciscan is a character. Thirdly, replacing the solitary contemplation which had been the practice of religious up to his time, Francis combined contemplation with a driving activity that led him to be likened to a fire running along the roads of Italy. Lastly, there was a joy that endeavored to show religion not as an incomprehensible and fearful thing, but rather as a means of obtaining peace of mind and hope. Francis not only preached, but also practiced these principles.

Today, true Franciscans continue to model themselves after their founder. Cheerfully they accept any task, whether it be of educating students who have determined to reject the acquisition of knowledge, or of participating in the activities of an undesirable but necessary organization. The feeling of satisfaction in working without complaint, and the practice of a functioning democratic system apparent to all of us in the Prep, are traits of Saint Francis himself. These and numerous other aspects of his heritage exist in abundance about us. They can be enjoyed and appreciated by all who would partake of them.

Saint Francis was born in the year 1182 of the wealthy merchant, Peter Bernadone, and his pious wife, Pica. The place was Assisi, an ordinary township of Italy, in no way outstanding from hundreds of other medieval counterparts.

ENVIRONMENTS ALTER with time and space. Looking at Assisi, the birthplace of Francis some eight hundred years ago, one would observe a peaceful town nestled among foothills covered with olive trees, and, over all, an atmosphere of medieval charm. Then in contrast to this tranquil scene is the present day background of the Prep. Here we stand amidst a tangled forest of television aerials, power lines, and telephone wires, overrun with snorting buses and trucks, and all is permeated with the air of progress that abounds in this, the largest city of the world. This contrast leads us to one of the greatest tributes that can be bestowed upon Franciscanism. It is that the power inherent in this Spirit is able to rise above the accidents of mere externals.

Today in this world of concrete and steel, where the aesthetic and the spiritual are too often ignored, it is indeed startling that this same Spirit, singularly characterized by the love of God through the beauty of Nature should survive. But survive it does. Having withstood the shocks of time from the darkness of the Middle Ages to the enlightened barbarism of today it endures indelibly imprinted on the minds and hearts of its followers. Franciscanism has never had any delusions about clinging to the past by retreating from reality into some scenic confinement. On the contrary, the harsher reality of today has been met squarely. In example of this we offer the very fact of the Prep itself. The world was seen to be in need of intellectual direction. And now, our school stands as a contemporary monument in the great stream of Franciscan education which includes such genius as that of Scotus, Bonaventure, Dante, Giotto, Columbus, da Vinci, Galileo, Volta, Galvani, Liszt, Palestrina, and Francis Thompson. Thus, despite the variance with the idyllic scene in which it began, the philosophy of Saint Francis of Assisi is today being passed on to new generations in the shadow of modern industry within the walls of our school.

However it is not only the brick and mortar visible to the eye that stands as the monument; but rather is it that Spirit with which each of us is imbued during our tenure here as students. May each of us preserve this heritage so that in some small way we might carry to a turbulent world a share in the love and gentleness that is Franciscanism.

Scenes

The usual locker-room tragedy at two-thirty, here starring Jim Crosby and company.

Incoming Freshmen Steve Murphy, Jim Cobb, Dave Maresco, and John Mazzarona, are awed by the glittering symbols of past Prep victories.

Brother Goretti eyes the daily jug crew which includes Bob Leddy, Pete McCorry, as usual the inevitable John Finegan, Joe Tagliareni, and John Hall.

The Christmas Assembly at the Greenpoint Theater overflows into Manhattan Avenue.

The Curriculum

Science

The science curricula include Biology in first year and Physics in Senior year. In both, theory is put into practice in two well equipped laboratories. Students who pass the Physics Regents and who have been successful in Biology receive one and one-half credits toward their Regents Diploma. Mr. Gleason pauses for questions during a Biology lecture.

Mathematics

Brother Noel detects an error in factoring. The varied Math courses begin with Elementary Algebra in the Freshman year. Following this Sophomores take Plane Geometry and Juniors Intermediate Algebra. All Seniors must have Trigonometry, while Solid Geometry and Advanced Algebra are electives.

Religion

Brother Alphonsus emphasizes a point in Biblical interpretations. Since the primary concern of Franciscan Education is the spiritual growth of a young man, Religion is given as an essential part of the curriculum. Freshman receive a general view of the Catholic Religion, its laws, its truths, and its organization. In second year a more specific study is made of the Mass and the Commandments of God and of the Church. Third year encompasses a thorough study of the Bible. The History of the Church from its beginnings to the present time is covered in Senior year. Besides these topics various encyclicals, as prescribed by the Diocesan Syllabus, are studied.

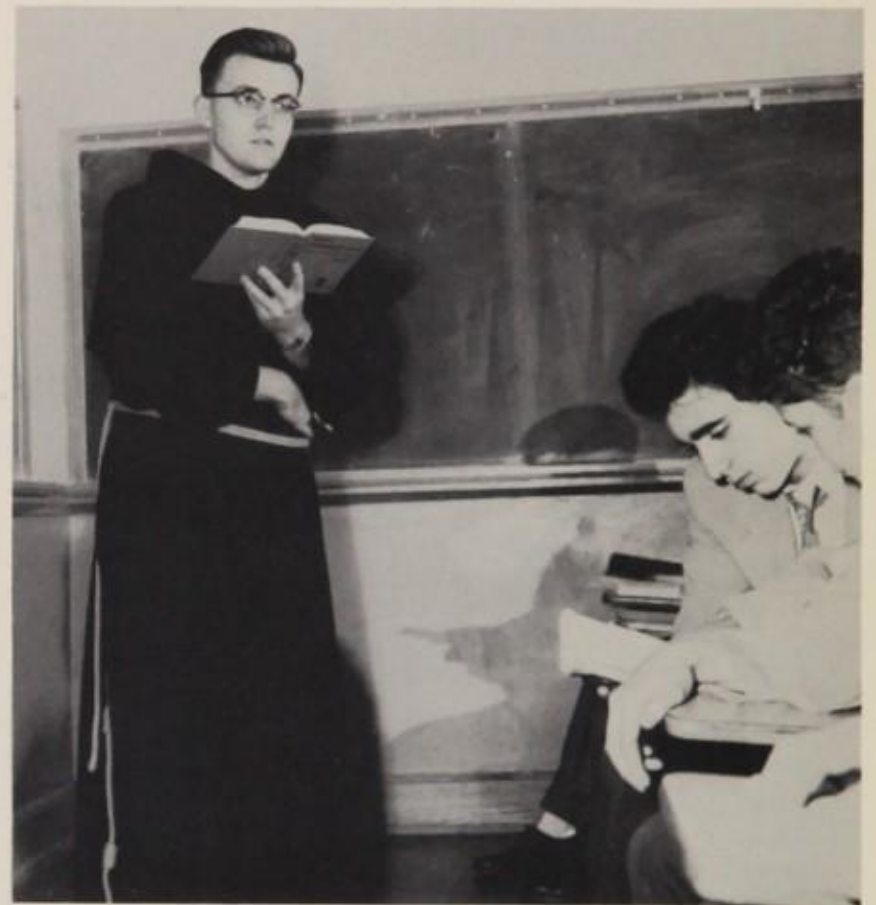

History

Mr. Payne illustrates the humorous side of current events. Incoming Freshman receive a one year course in the economic institutions of the modern world. World history, from its beginnings to the present time, is the subject matter for second year. Third and fourth years are occupied with extensive preparation for the History Regents. During this time, the Constitution and current events comprise a great part of the required topics.

English

Brother Miles on the fundamentals of grammar. The study of English begins with a review of all grammar, reading techniques, and vocabulary building. In the second year the rudiments of composition and basic literary forms are the topics covered. Along with an attempt to perfect the students' style of composition, American and English Literature are surveyed in third and fourth years. Other topics in this syllabus include Parliamentary Procedure, letter writing, and library usage.

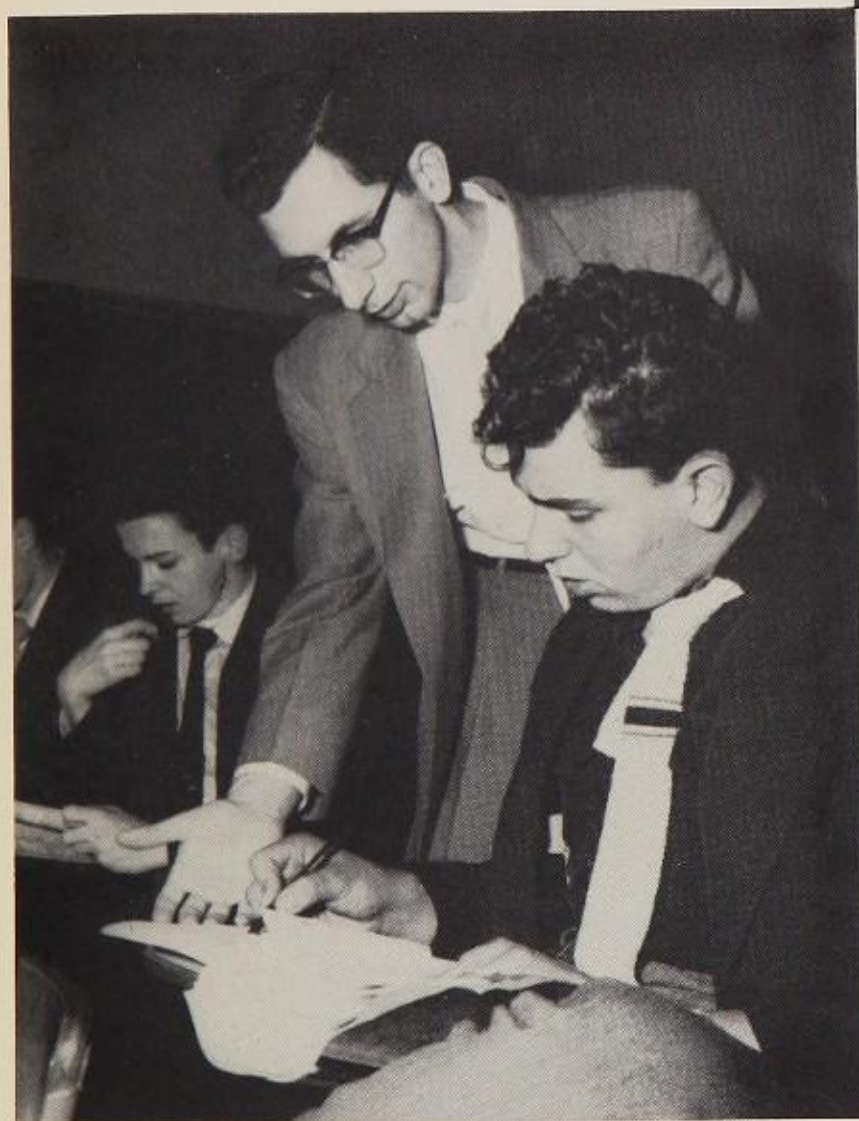

Physical Education

Brother Cyprian talks to a starting five, not all of whom appear interested. An integral part of Franciscan Education is the physical development of a young man. A sound mind in a sound body is accomplished by a complete program of intramural sports combined with a closely followed physical education course.

Typing

Those students who choose not to take third year Latin are given a year's course in typing. The blank keyboard method of instruction is used. Students are taught basic business forms and letter writing techniques. This course, culminating in the Typing Regents, is taught by Brother Walter shown here checking Joe Murphy's format.

Languages

In fulfilling college prerequisites, both Latin and French are offered. Besides the fundamentals of grammar the works of Caesar, Cicero and Virgil are read in Latin, and, in addition to short stories, Hugo's Les Miserables is read in French. Each student must take at least two years of each language; the third and fourth years are optional. Mr. Madaloni checks a conjugation.

Music

Mr. Gilroy gives a downbeat. All Freshmen receive an introductory course in the fundamentals of music. Further, each student is invited to join the Music Department which would permit him to take advantage of tuition-free instructions. These instructions include vocal training as well as all musical instruments.

Guidance

To the Guidance Department falls the task of assisting students with their educational, vocational, personal and social questions and problems. Established four years ago under the direction of Brother Philip, it is now an efficient organization. Brother Felician is the Assistant Guidance Director.

Through this department invaluable services are given to students. Incoming Freshmen receive a complete orientation. Counselors are assigned for the students in each term. Brothers Regis, Cajetan, Cabrini, and Alphonsus have been designated as student counselors. Group Guidance Classes are given periodically and once every two years a Career Day is held. Tests are given to determine scholastic ability and probable vocation. Besides the pre-induction program which is sponsored by Brother Philip, head of the Guidance Department, stresses a point on correct study habits during the Career Forum.

Dr. Roy Avvocato, St. Francis alumnus, discussed the medical aspects of service life at the Military Forum.

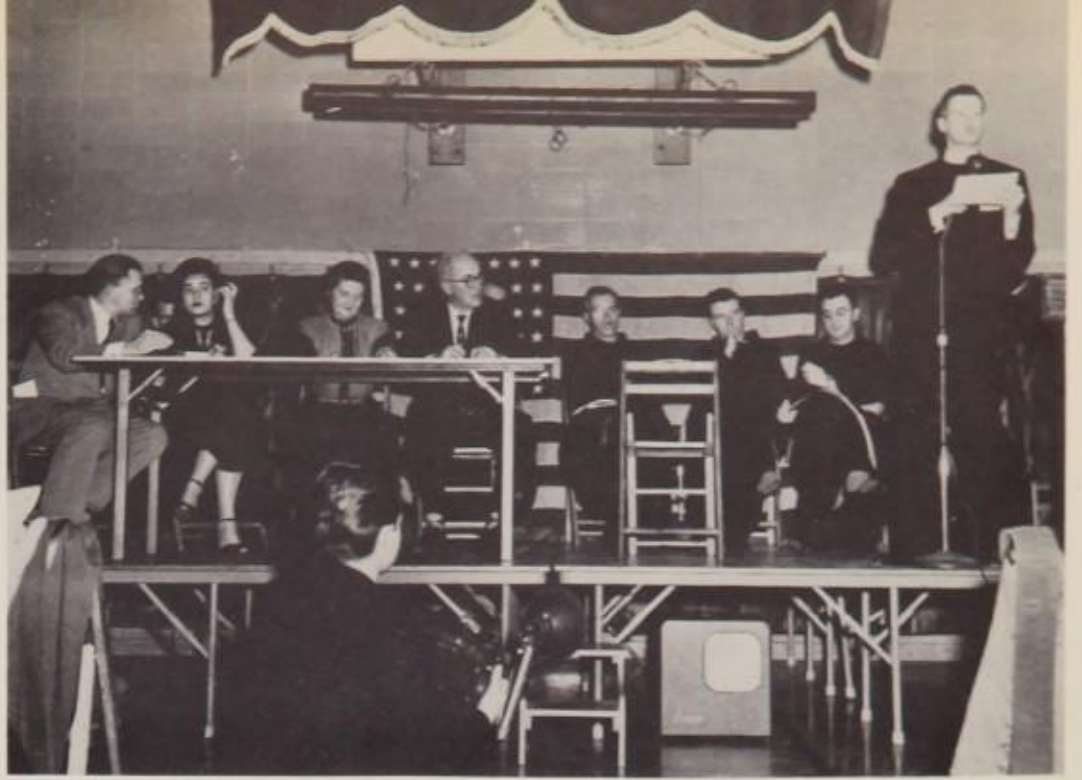

Distinguished speakers at the third annual Guidance Forum are introduced by Brother Philip. Representatives were present from the Army, Navy, Marines, Air Corps, various military academies, and numerous Catholic institutions of higher learning in the East. Each representative offered information and advice to Seniors considering admission.

Department

this department, Juniors and Seniors attend a yearly Educational Forum. Brother Leonard is in charge of placement and Brother Robert is in charge of religious vocations. Students of outstanding ability may, in their Junior and Senior year, join the Scholarship Club which offers specialized instructions designed to help them cope with scholarship tests.

This year a reading improvement program has been introduced. The latest in reading equipment is utilized by Brother Fabian who has been trained as a reading specialist. This course is incorporated in the Freshmen curriculum, and is available to those in any term who wish such assistance. Brother Cosmos has contributed greatly to the reading program. A last improvement has been the expanding of the Career File in the Library.

A panel consisting of faculty-member, Mr. Ellinghaus, and parents, Mrs. O'Daly, Mrs. Checkett, and Mr. Rorke was featured at the Parent Forum. Rev. William McMahon, Guidance Director of Cardinal Hayes High School, who was guest speaker, stressed parental responsibility in developing their children's talents.

Student Council

The Student Council at St. Francis, while still in its infancy, is slowly but surely attaining the stature it deserves. The Council in the past three years has proven its value by presenting plans for new activities and promoting the participation of students in these activities. This year the Council has obtained permission to hold a Senior Day and has successfully formulated a plan whereby students who maintain an average of ninety or above for three months are exempt from the final exam. This applies only to class tests, not Regents. Plans have been drawn up for a driver education course which is to begin in Sept.'56. The Student Council has complete control of all student-sponsored activities and acts as the voice of the student body in such matters.

The President and Vice-President are elected annually in the spring. The candidates for these offices must be members of the Junior or Senior year and they must be approved by the Student Council. The class representatives are elected by their respective classes at the start of each term. These delegates represent their classes at the bi-monthly meetings of the Council.

The cooperation the Council has received from Brother Timothy and the faculty has been most encouraging and the student government at the Prep is fast becoming a fixture.

Moderators, Brother Jarlath and Mr. William Reilly, discuss the achievements of this year's Council.

Activity

From his headquarters in the Brothers' Faculty House, Father Redmond's activities include hearing Confessions daily, issuing a weekly religious bulletin especially designed for the needs of Prep students, and being always on hand to guide students through their difficulties.

January First Friday Mass at St. Vincent DePaul's Church is the setting for the reception of Holy Communion by the student body.

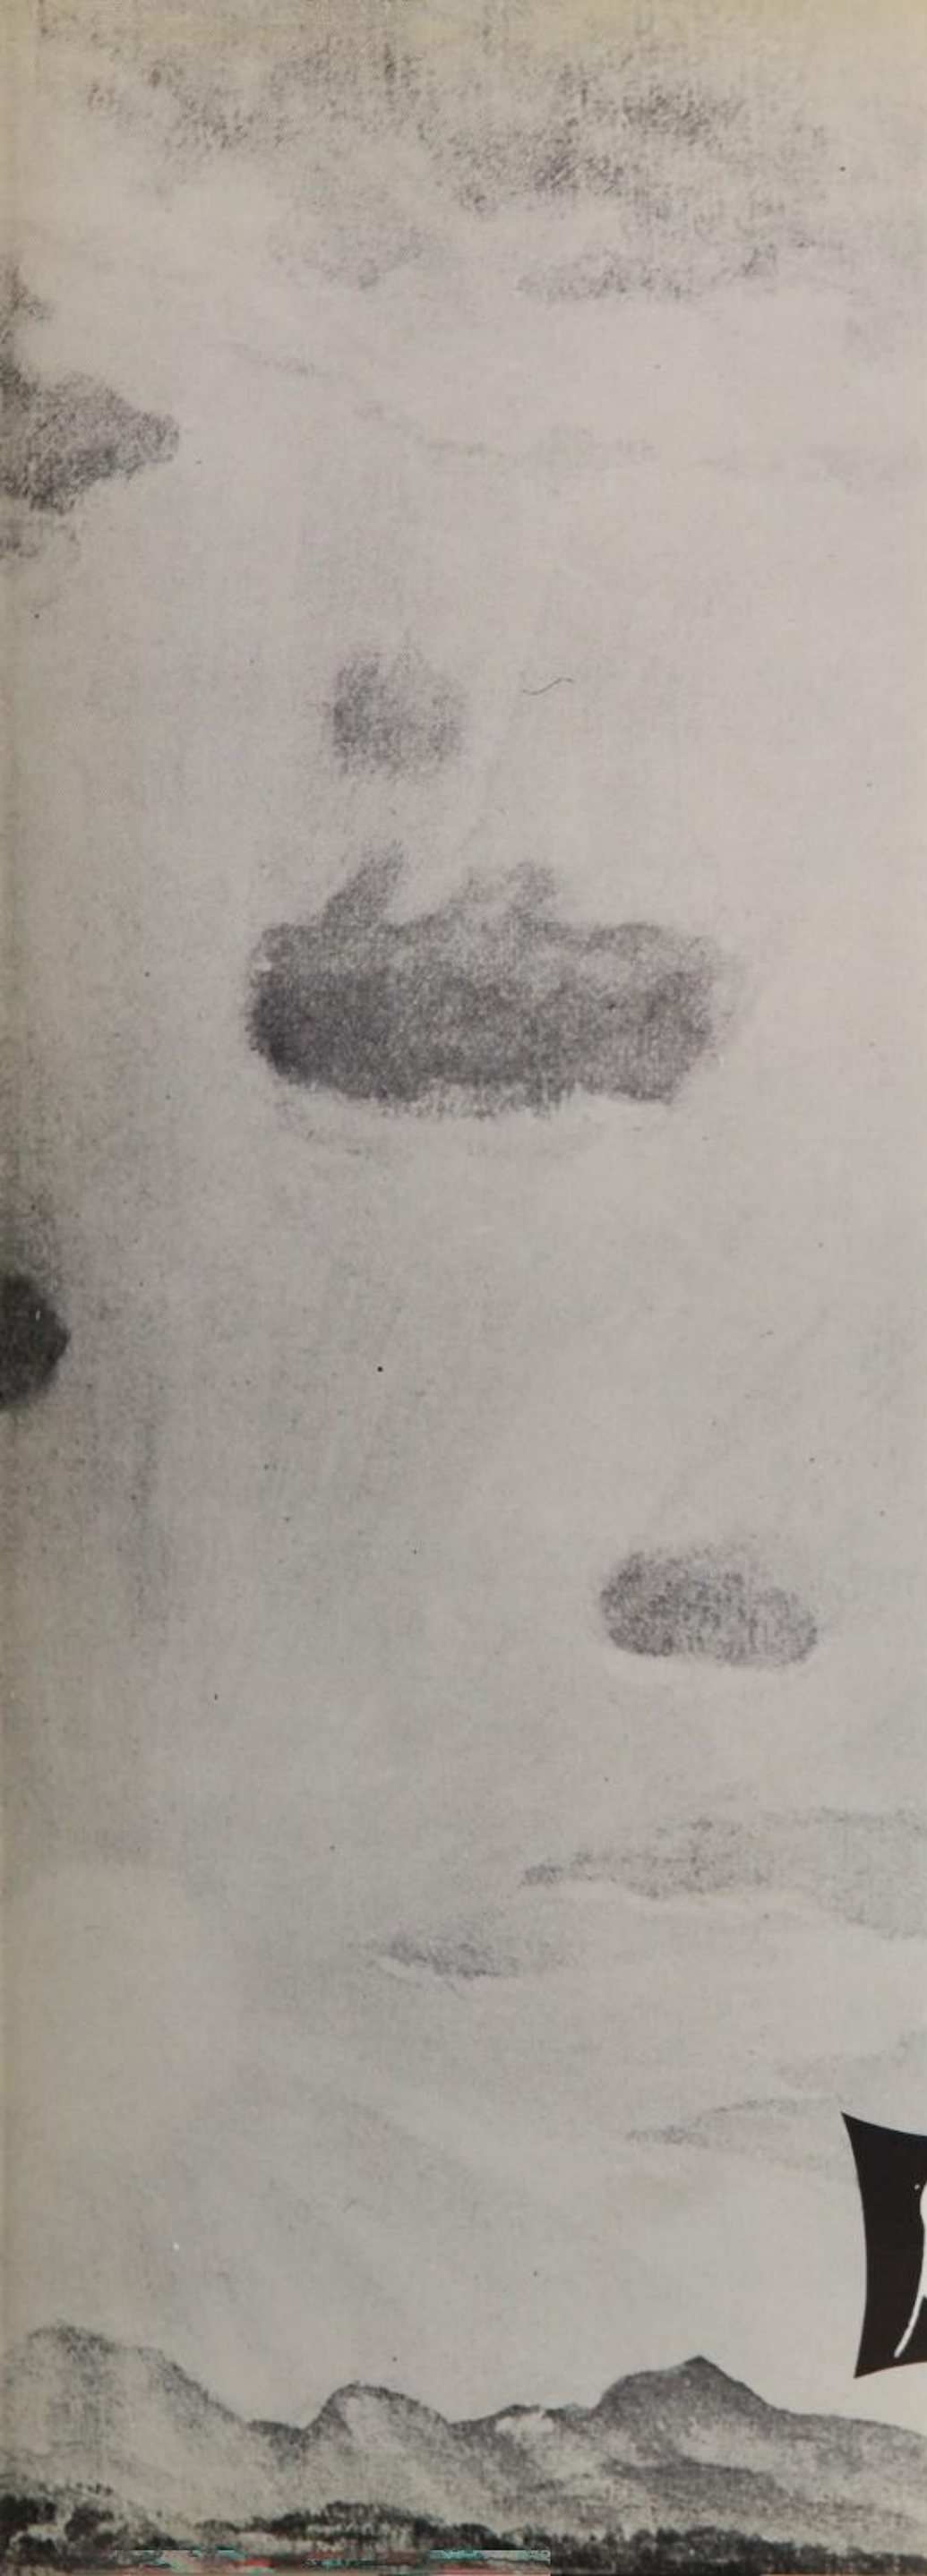

School life revolves about the central hall's statue of Francis and Christ.

Frank Raimondi, Bill Ahern, Lou Fratangelo, Don Birmingham, Joe Thompson, Walt Morley, and Joe Walker pause at Mary's shrine in the east courtyard.

In his first quest for fame, Francis prepared himself for war. As a knight he rode against Perugia in defense of his native city, Assisi. And again, joined with Gauthier de Brienne in his controversy over the crown of Sicily during the siege of Apulia.

IF ANY ONE CHARACTERISTIC could be found by the historian to have been the motivating force behind the exemplary life of Saint Francis of Assisi, it would undoubtedly be identified as that of the quality of knighthood. Born into an age when knighthood was in full flower, his personality was greatly influenced by the high traditions of chivalry. Although at first only the secular aspects of knight-errantry were perceived, Francis soon realized also, that he could best follow his spiritual ideals by imitating the pattern of conduct envisioned in the code of chivalry. Thus does he serve in the name of his "Liege Lord Christ", and thus is his most beloved the "Lady Poverty". In fact, all the marks of the glorious spirit of knighthood may be found in the "Poor Man of Assisi".

When one makes an analysis of these marks, he can not but be struck by the similarity between the athlete of today and the knight of yore.

First of all, by its very nature, competitive sports manifest the attribute of readiness to struggle for one's goal. How alike are the athlete in his enjoyment of the contest and the bygone Christian knight in his love for combat! Secondly, nothing breeds humility like teamwork. When a player realizes he is but a cog in the machine, it is then that he becomes a member of the team. Then, following from this kinship with his team rises a strong sense of loyalty toward both his fellow competitors and the school he represents.

Discipline, a truly chivalric trait, has an excellent champion in the field of sports. Everyone realizes that to achieve a desired goal someone must be looked up to and obeyed. It is the responsibility of coaches, moderators, and athletic directors to exert discipline fairly, and of the athlete, in turn, to accept it. Stemming almost directly from discipline is modesty. It has been said that modesty is the mark of greatness. And surely those who would be successful in the world of sports must be free from conceit and narcissism. We have all seen the chaotic spectacle of the glory-grabber in action.

Embodied in the very idea of sportsmanship is the generous chivalric practice of delicacy toward those who are not as strong or do not have as much as one's self.

And lastly, probably the most important comparison between yesterday's paladin and today's player is a quality of which both undoubtedly were unconscious. The Prep athlete, so often in the spotlight, is constantly looked to as an example of Catholicity. By his feats he has a tremendous opportunity to further the cause of Christ.

Therefore, sports entail much more than having fun or acquiring personal glory. Athletic competitions provide the means by which one may follow in the footsteps of such great cavaliers as Roland, Arthur, Galahad, and Saint Francis of Assisi.

SPORTS

Greatest of all years in Prep athletics

In the course of its history, St. Francis has produced many outstanding teams. Tut Maggio's football powerhouses and Dan Lynch's Mighty Mites of basketball come immediately to mind. But never before has the entire Athletic Department had such an impact in the world of sports. The record of the five major sports reads as follows: Football, City Co-Champions; Basketball, City Champions; Swimming, City Champions. At this writing Track and Baseball have not been concluded. However, both teams have exhibited such strength that the amazing prospect of five City Championships is not inconceivable. The Baseball Team rides at the top of the league. The Track Team, after being second only to Hayes by a scant one and one-half points in the Indoor Meets, champs at the bit while waiting for the climax of the Outdoor C.H.S.A.A. Meets.

This was the year! If 1955 is remembered for nothing else, it will go down in history as witnessing the long-awaited rising of Saint Francis Prep's star in the football heavens. For, with the coming of a new coach, Mr. Vincent O'Connor, and a hard-fighting, well-balanced team, Saint Francis made football eyes pop as our squad brought home a co-championship in the Catholic High School Football League.

Coach Vinnie O'Connor, for the past two years Prep JayVee mentor, rocketed into prominence by building, forming, and drilling a team of true championship caliber. A Korean War veteran, "Dutch" played his football with Manual Training High School, ironically having his promising career interrupted by a severe injury suffered at the hands of Saint Francis Prep. Another new addition to the coaching staff was Mr. Vincent Gargano, former South Carolina guard and erstwhile Lafayette and Lincoln High School line coach, who comes to the Prep in the same capacity. Mr. John Boyle, also from South Carolina University, returns as Terrier backfield coach.

The Varsity opened their march to the co-championship of the two-year-old C.H.S.F.L., after a brief tuneup period at Camp Alvernia, with a high-spirited procession up to Iona Prep. Billy Gallagher scored first, followed by Tom McDonald and joy was rampant in the Saint Francis section. However, Iona tallied twice, the latter coming with a minute to go and earning the Gaels a 12-12 tie. After this surprising deadlock, the Terriers felt that they could go "all the way." This was substantiated the following week as Saint Francis bowled over Chaminade, 19-6, pulling the upset of the year in beating the Flyers for the first time in 13 years. Ray Ratkowski scored all three Prep touchdowns on a 67 yard punt return and two plunges. Now the Terriers were riding high.

The next victim to fall under the Saint Francis onslaught was Brooklyn Prep, in a muddy, sloppy game on muddy, sloppy Brooklyn College Field. With Gallagher and Nicoletti snaring Tom Doherty's passes and Ratkowski going over for the extra points, the Varsity emerged victorious, 14-0. The Prep then moved up to Mount Saint Michael Field for its third league contest. An extremely hotly-contested game saw Billy Gallagher, Tony Montalbano (on a 78 yard run), and Ray Ratkowski tally for Saint Francis, and Montalbano crossing the goal again on a 65 yard pass play with less than a minute to play for a 25-25 tie.

In a game postponed from its original date because of inclement weather, the Terriers next vanquished Cardinal Hayes by the count of 19 to 6. Tom Doherty, having a field day, tossed two touchdown passes to Nicoletti and Gallagher, and also ran for a score against the once-tough Cardinals. Then came the game — with league-leading Archbishop Stepinac. Saint Francis, although the underdog for the first time since the season opener, proved their tenacity by deflating the Crusaders by the resounding margin of 33-14. Billy Gallagher scored twice, John Connelly, "Jake" Montalbano, and Ray "The Animal" Ratkowski once each with Montalbano booting three extra points. Stepinac must have read their own press notices while the Terriers were turning in their best game of the year. However, only a first-place tie was earned due to the C.H.S.F.L. point system.

In the closing game of the season, with St. John's Prep, Saint Francis took time out to read their clippings and were surprised by the Redmen to the tune of 13-6. Billy Gallagher scored the lone Terrier tally. However, not being a league game, the St. John's loss did little more than mar our record.

Completing the 1955 football year with an account of four wins, one loss, and two ties, including a 3-0-2 league record, Saint Francis Prep has proven itself in the gridiron ranks. The C.H.S.F.L. co-championship and many individual honors through placing two and three men on every All-Star team were the evidence. The highest plaudits were well deserved by the entire football entourage — "Coach of the Year" Vinnie O'Connor, line coach Vinnie Gargano, backfield coach John Boyle, moderator Brother Felician, our co-captains, quarterback Tom Doherty, "Player of the Year," and Dick Nicoletti, All-City end, and the fighting, courageous squad, who gave us so much to remember.

Jay Vee Football

Tom McSweeney plants a rib-rattling tackle on a St. John's ball carrier as Ed Checkett and Paul Porazzo move up for insurance.

The 1955 edition of the Prep's Jay Vee football team entered the gridiron wars with a new coach and high hopes of bettering last year's impressive record. Mr. James Murphy former player with both St. John's Prep and Fordham University, and of late Fordham Prep's mentor, took over as head coach. Mr. Jack Monaghan returned as assistant coach while some added assistance was supplied by Brother Regis who acted as backfield coach.

The Terrier Pups opened the season by dropping a 39-0 contest to Chaminade. Inexperience was most apparent. In the second game Brooklyn Tech was romped by a 45-0 score. The following week at Brooklyn Prep the team seemed to have come into its own as it emerged on the long end of a 28-6 victory. Their line play was excellent while Richie Cooney starred offensively by scoring thirteen points. Mount St. Michael was next. After holding them to a single touchdown in the first half, the Prep was eventually the loser by the Mount's breaking the game open in the third period and racking up a final score of 28-0.

The Cardinal Hayes game saw a loss of spirit on the part of the Terriers as Hayes took the deciding share of a 26-0 score. Imbued with Coach Murphy's enthusiasm, however, the team then took on and defeated his former school, St. John's Prep. The outstanding play of the day was made by end Mike Murphy. Devlin and Marco also, each chipped in with touchdowns in this 21-13 victory.

The final game came in a snow-swept return match with Mount St. Michael. Scoring was sparse. Devlin counted for St. Francis with a long touchdown run but this was matched by the Mount's pushing a lone man across the Prep goal line. Thus did the game end in a 6-6 deadlock.

The season record showed an even split: 3 wins, 3 losses, and 1 tie. In all the team was an excellent tribute to their new and capable coach, Jim Murphy, for despite inexperience they hold bright promise for the future.

Over hills and through meadows, in woods and on dusty trails, the Saint Francis Prep cross-country team completes its course for another year. Having taken ten trophies and 150 medals and capturing the Athletic Association of Private Schools Varsity and Junior Varsity crowns, and finishing second in the Catholic High School Varsity and Jayvee Championships, the Prep hill and dalers enjoyed a commendable season. The rewards of the upperclass squads were surpassed by the winnings of the Freshman team. The frosh cross-country squad came through with an undefeated season, topping it off with both the C.H.S.A.A. and A.A.P.S. crowns.

The Varsity hill and dalers finished fourth in the Grout Memorial run in Schenectady, N. Y. and fifth in the New York University Meet at Van Cortlandt Park. The Jay Vee took second in the Grout run, while the freshmen led off with a win of the Manhattan Prep Meet. The Terriers showed improvement in the St. John's University Meet, although the Varsity took fourth while the Jay Vee captured second place in their section. In the Fordham University Meet, which followed, the senior hill and dalers finished fifth and the Junior Varsity sixth. In the meantime, the frosh were capturing the first annual Saint Francis Prep Spiked Shoe run and the Brooklyn-Long Island Championships. In this same Brooklyn-Long Island Meet, the Varsity suffered a big letdown as they finished but fifth. However, the Jay Vee kept things bright, taking first place honors in the event.

Then came the championship meets. In the C.H.S.A.A. run, the Varsity showed up with a good second place. The Jay Vee also finished in the second slot. And the unstoppable freshmen took their championship. The Varsity finished the season, though, in a blaze of glory, winning the A.A.P.S. diadem. The Jay Vee followed suit, capturing their title, and the frosh, continuing their undefeated string, made it a clean sweep of the Private Schools Meet.

Captain Ed Keenan, Ed Kennedy, Dan Rorke, Joe Davis and frosh king Joe Armstead were the boys of whom coach Jim McHugh and freshman coach Jim Wood were most proud. Saint Francis is rightfully proud of the entire cross-country aggregation, now moving on to the indoor and outdoor seasons.

The varsity five, coached by Mr. Frank Keegan, swept all conceivable championships and many individual awards. The honors captured during the season included the Brooklyn Division Championship for the fourth straight year, the City Championship for the second straight year, and the Metropolitan K. of C. Invitation Tournament.

The team, captained by Sam Stith, suffered an opening game loss to Trinity, but recovered enough to win its next twenty-six straight games for a final count of twenty-seven and one. Tom Stith, in leading all scorers, drew a now famous quote from Coach Frank "Chick" Keegan, which went, "He is the best high school basketball player I ever coached, including such Prep greats as Joe Quigg, Gus Alfieri and Bud Pascal." This was apparently held up by the fact that Tom as a Junior made every All-City team and also was selected to the High School All-American Basketball Team.

Taking honors, Tom was closely followed by his brother and captain Sam Stith who, like Tom, made practically every All-City team. Supporting this duet on the starting five were Jim Sparrow, Hal Bauser and Pete Schweitzer. Lending great support from the bench whenever called on were Bob Jenkins, Tom Rizzo, Bob Cahill, Bill Shin, Vin Puleo, Jim Brucia, John Hickey and Ken MacGregor.

When clinching the Brooklyn division they did so even though Bob Welch and Tom Doherty were lost at half-season. Providing the basic Terrier opposition and taking second place in Brooklyn were the Flyers of Chaminade.

They were twice beaten by the Terrier Bombers. One was a four point squeaker at Mineola and the other a thorough trouncing which, at the same time, clinched the Brooklyn Division title. Going into the city playoffs the Terriers, in the final game, resorted to possession tactics to stop the fast-breaking St. Ann quintet by a 42-35 score. Following this championship the Varsity, in spite of trouble from St. Helena's, in the K. of C. went past LaSalle by swamping them in the finals for another championship. Then journeying down to Washington, the main obstacle in the Terrier victory path was again St. Ann's, whom the basketballers knocked off in the semi-finals, the most exciting game of the tournament. Next they easily defeated Gonzaga of Washington for the National Championship.

Truly a sad prospect is the thought that Sam Stith (he with the springs in his legs, seen flashing in for a lay up and needed two points in a contest with LaSalle) will no longer appear in the uniform of St. Francis. Graduating this term, he has accepted a scholarship from St. Bonaventure's University.

Jay Vee Basketball

The purpose of Jay Vee Basketball is to develop Varsity material. This objective was admirably accomplished during the 1955-56 season. The starting team included Bob Greene, Rudy Hinzman, Ken Cummings, Jim Brucia, Bob Jenkins, and, as sixth man, John Hickey. Brucia, Hickey and Jenkins were moved up to the Varsity at the completion of the first half of the season. Bob Jenkins proved so valuable that many considered him the key player in the winning of the City Championship, and Knights of Columbus Tournament at Washington, D. C.

Though loss of these fine players weakened the team, the Jay Vee was still capable of placing second in the league with a respectable record of nine wins and three losses. Bob Greene paced the attack through the second half of the season by averaging close to fifteen points a game. In addition to Bob, Ken Cummings, Ken Kiernan, Bob Langill, Joe Tuohey, and Rudy Hinzman showed great potential as Varsity men for the coming year.

Freshman Basketball

Mr. Patrick Gleason and Brother Terence developed a team which ended up in second place in the league where their record stood at six wins and two losses. Probably their most satisfying victory came when they inflicted the only loss on the league champions, St. Augustine. The first half of the season was marked by the fine ball handling, shooting and defensive play of Wally Keane who, in teaming up with Bob Maurer, made up the best back court combination in the league. Joe Twohey's great rebounding under the boards was the other big factor in the team's success. Four of the starting five's eligibility terminated before the playoffs at Cardinal Hayes. With Larry Pascal as the only veteran, Bobby Krause, John Hennessey, Ed Connolly and Dick Bryan joined in a valiant effort but were eliminated in the first playoff game.

Handball

The Prep Palmers, under the moderatorship of Brothers Vincent and Noel, undertake an eighteen game schedule this year. Although no league has been formally organized, the team will enter two tournaments. The first, sponsored by the C.H.S.A.A., is held at Central Park in early June. Last year the team got as far as the semi-finals. In the second, sponsored by the Athletic Association of Private Schools, St. Francis has never before been enrolled. Handball seems to be coming into its own at the Prep. In addition to the team's evident high spirit, for the first time in many years enough students were enlisted to form Freshman, Jay Vee, and Varsity squads.

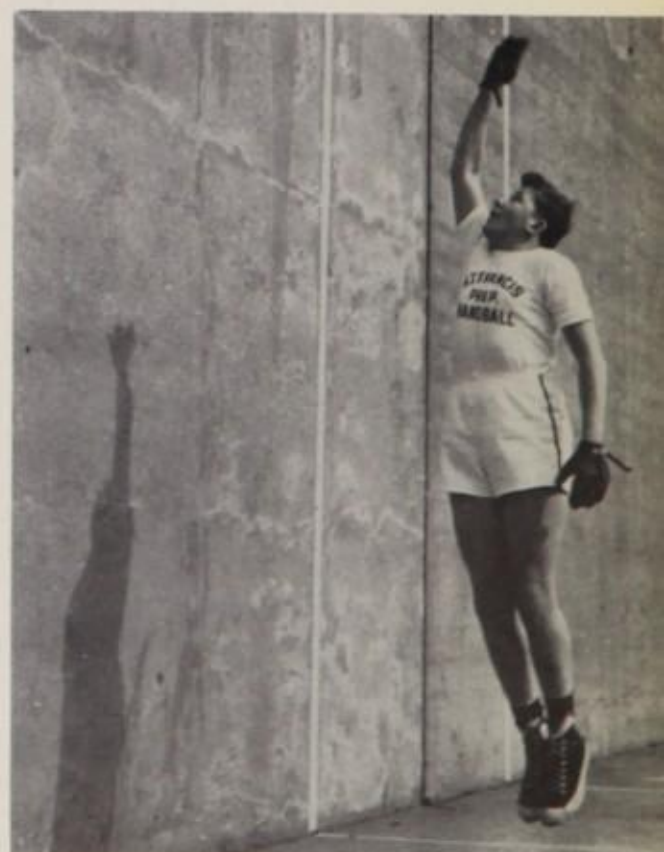

Senior members of the team, Ted Pheney, Bob Bukowski, and Lawrence Buck, stand by for Brother Vincent's tally of a match score.

Indoor Track

Varsity Captain Ray Smith strides easily to victory in a qualifying heat of the Catholic School Championships at Madison Square Garden.

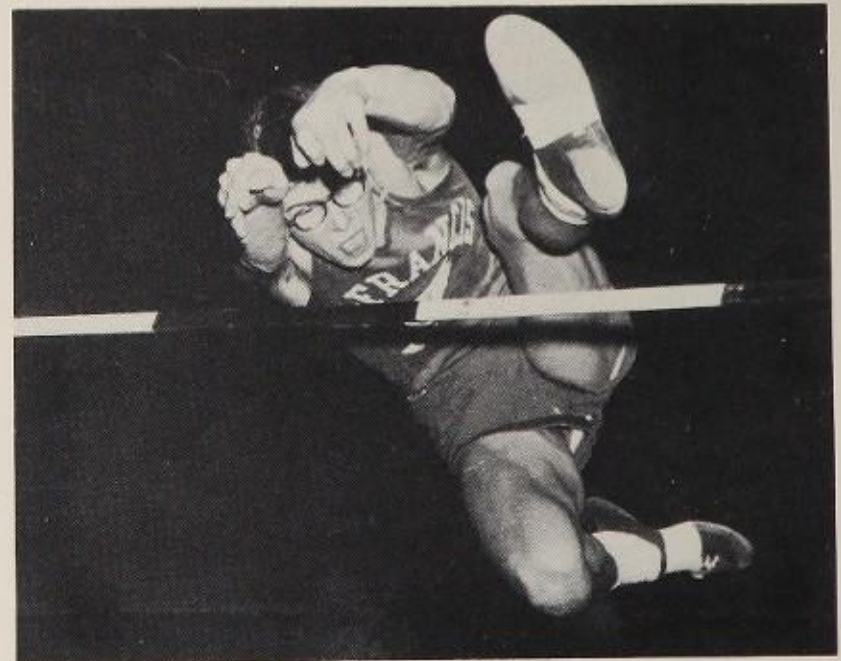

Ed Kennedy shows the strain of a tremendous finishing burst as he edges out Frank Trautlein in the C.H.S.A.A. championship half mile.

The 1955-56 indoor track team held a unique distinction in the sports annals of Saint Francis Prep. For the harriers were defending Catholic High School Athletic Association champions. The success enjoyed by the team last year had been unparalleled. With the graduation of twenty seniors who had formed the nucleus of the squad, prospects for this season were far from bright. The team was young and much smaller than last year's powerhouse.

Oblivious to these obstacles, the Prep track squad, under head coach Mr. James McHugh and his assistants, Mr. John Wood and field event coach Mr. Vincent O'Connor, performed admirably throughout the long season. While not quite able to match the achievements of their immediate predecessors, the trackmen garnered second places finishes in the Cardinal Hayes Meet and the Mount St. Michael and Fordham Prep Relay Carnivals. An outstanding team performance was then responsible for a spectacular tie for second place in the National A.A.U. Championships in Madison Square Garden.

The long grind on the boards reached its exciting climax in the C.H.S.A.A. Championship Meet in the Garden. The Terriers, emulating their scrappy namesake, battled tooth and nail with the other contenders, Cardinal Hayes and Bishop Loughlin. Ed Kennedy scored for St. Francis in an upset second place in the half-mile run, followed by an electrifying one-two finish in the 440 yard dash by captain Ray Smith and teammate Ray Ratkowski. After sophomore Joe Armstead delivered three points with a third place in the 280 yards dash, the pendulum began to swing the other way as the "breaks" began to go against the Terriers. The mile relay, which was favored to win its event, was put in a slow heat and only finished third. The two-mile relay was then shut out of the scoring. As the starters lined up for the six-lap relay, the meet was still undecided. The cards seemed stacked against the Terriers as the Prep leadoff man was severely jostled and lost precious seconds. That made the difference as Cardinal Hayes won the event and our team finished fifth, just three tenths of a second away from second place and victory in the meet.

Larry Judd, hobbled by injuries, makes a valiant effort to clear the crossbar in the Garden. Larry's jump placed fourth, garnering one and one-half points for the team.

Spiked Shoe Club

This very successful organization of some sixty members keeps alive an active interest between graduated and competing Prep trackmen. It is composed of those who have earned a major letter in track, whether they be graduated or in attendance, and the fathers of the two aforementioned groups. The Brother Austin Championship and the Freshman Cross-Country Run sponsored by the Club have done a great deal toward developing young talent. With Frank DeFontes '55 as the current president, the Club hopes to sponsor a major meet with medals of its own casting as the awards. Swimming

Swimming Coach Mr. Booras addresses the student body during rally.

Following the precedent of past squads under Coach Thomas Booras, the Saint Francis Prep 1955-56 swimming team made a clean sweep of all Catholic metropolitan tank titles. With the bulk of last year's City Championship squad gone through graduation, Mr. Booras built this season's team around the four returning championship scorers, Frank McQuade, Brian Trent, Mike Booras, and Jim Dunphy. Despite the lack of experience of the team, Mr. Booras and the swimmers enjoyed an undefeated season of dual meet competition and went on to capture such diadems as the Eastern States Catholic Championship, the New York City C.H.S.A.A. Dual Meet Championship, and the City Senior Individual Championship. In addition, the younger natators annexed the C.H.S.A.A. Novice Championship, the Freshman Dual Meet Championship, and the Freshman Individual Championship.

Aside from these many victories, the Prep mermen this year finished fourth in the National Catholic High School Championships, third in the Harrigan Invitational Swim, and third in the Private Schools Championship.

The City Championships, held this season at New York University pool, was the big meet for the young mermen. Opening with the fifty yard freestyle event, the C.H.S.A.A. affair provided many thrills as St. Francis competed against the best in the Catholic School ranks, coming out on top with some flashy swimming by the Terriers.

In the "fifty", Kevin Heslin did well in placing second to Cardinal Hayes, getting the Prep natators off to a worthy start. In the 100 yard breast stroke, Richard O'Boyle, a junior with only freshman experience, placed second. Swim Captain Frank McQuade then led the field throughout the 100 yard backstroke, copping the lone Terrier individual victory. With the crowd on its feet, Brian Trent was outsped in a three-tenths of a second decision to Cardinal Hayes in his effort to retain his 100 yard freestyle crown. Then in the 200 yard freestyle, Novice Champ Nick Cirigliano placed third ahead of Brian Murphy, also of the Red and Blue. Nick continued his show in the individual medley by placing second to National Champ Drury Gallagher of Brooklyn Prep.

Following the medley, Jim Dunphy and Mike Wall secured third and fourth places, respectively, for St. Francis in the fancy dive championship event.

During the relays, the Terriers had the crowd standing as the record-holding medley team of Frank McQuade, Jim Dunphy, Dick O'Boyle, and Bill Burchianti steamed home first. The Terriers then showed their freestyle strength as the relay team of Brian Trent, Kevin Heslin, Mike Booras, and Bill Burchianti bettered their traditional rival, St. John's Prep, in gaining first place and putting the finishing touch on St. Francis' bid for the title of City Champs.

Tennis

At least three times a week the Tennis Team, in its spanking new uniforms, may be seen wending its way to the courts at McCarren Park. Since it is a late season activity no results may be recorded here. However, the team is looking forward to some fifteen matches as participants in both the Athletic Association of Private Schools and the Catholic High School Athletic Association. Although Beetle Williams seems destined as the outstanding Varsity player, Brother Robert is most concerned with building for the future. Consequently, the two freshmen, Steve Broderick and Bill Murphy, are regarded as the team's greatest assets.

Penn Relay American Champions

One mile and two mile relay team of Ray Ratkowski, Ray Smith, Ed Kennedy, and Jack McGannon.

Seeking to avenge their defeat in the indoor championships, the Saint Francis Prep track team entered the outdoor season with all the strength they bared on the boards, bolstered by the recovery of several key members from previous injuries, and with excellent prospects for a successful campaign. Setting their sights on the University of Pennsylvania Relays and the C.H.S.A.A. Outdoor Championships, the Red and Blue harriers opened the drive by taking the unofficial decision in the Catholic High School Relay Carnival with four first places, three seconds, and two thirds. The mile, two mile, four mile, and high hurdle relay teams all won their events, while the Terriers placed second in the broad jump, high jump, and low hurdle relays. Thirds were taken in the shot put and 880 yard relay events, giving St. Francis a total of forty-five medals for the meet.

In the Queens-Iona Relays, the second meet of the outdoor campaign, St. Francis placed third in the final team standing, two and one-half points behind the winning school, Bishop Loughlin. Our single victory was turned in by the two-mile relay team of Jack McGannon, Ed Kennedy, Ray Ratkowski, and Ray Smith. Ratkowski, Kennedy, and Smith then teamed up with Joe Davis for a third in the distance medley. The 440 yard relay and broad jump chipped in fourths and the 880 yard relay a fifth for the final fourteen and one-half points.

The first major contest of the season, and the only one yet held at this writing, was the 62nd annual Penn Relay Carnival run at Franklin Field, Philadelphia. It had been the goal of every St. Francis squad which had journeyed in the past to this, the "grand-daddy" of all track meets, to win a relay Championship of America. The Terriers had come close many times but had never been able to bring home one of the huge championship plaques.

With a stunning display of speed, however, the team of Ray Smith, Ed Kennedy, Jack McGannon, and Ray Ratkowski accomplished the heretofore impossible, not once but twice, winning the two-mile relay in the one-second-off-the-record time of 8:10 and the following day, the mile relay in a creditable 3:27.7. Elated, the track team now returns to the local scene for the forthcoming Catholic Outdoor Championships, for which the outlook is bright in a fitting tribute to head coach Jim McHugh, John Wood and Vinnie O'Connor, his assistants, and moderator Brother Theodore, all of whom have done a commendable job in placing St. Francis on the interscholastic track map.

Jack McGannon leads field in two mile relay.

Ron Moroz vaults over the obstacles in the lead in the 120 yard high hurdles event of the C.H.S.A.A. Relay Carnival at Van Cortlandt Park.

Baseball

Varsity Coach Keegan and moderator Rev. Brother Fabian, O.S.F., look over baseball squad at practice.

The legendary cry of "wait 'til next year" was finally answered for Brooklyn fans last October. St. Francis Prep, also waiting for fourteen years, may have this threat fulfilled in this campaign.

The Williamsburg bombers have a power packed lineup that enemy hurlers fear. For the first time in a good number of years, the Terriers have a potential winner. Chick Keegan's Murderer's Row, although not nearly equal to that of the Yankees, consists of Ned Carver, Jake Montalbano (the Whitestone Flash), Mike Esposito (Journal-American M.V.P. winner), and Fred Sanford. Their subversive weapons are backed up by the fine hurling of Hal Bauser, Bob Stone and Manny Cardinale.

The Terriers started off the season by playing a non-league battle against Xavier, mauling its opposition, 13-0. The offensive attack was led by Jake Montalbano with two singles, Mike Esposito, who had a pair of doubles, and Bob Doherty, with three singles. The big blow of the game came when, in the third inning, Fred Sanford unloaded a four sacker with the bases empty. The pitching laurels went to Hal Bauser, who struck out nine men in four innings, and Bob Stone, who fanned six men in three innings.

The game which truly proved the ability of the St. Francis nine was a 2-0 loss to Lafayette. That school, considered one of the best in New York City, has trounced Loughlin and St. John's, arch rivals of the Prep in past years. Hal Bauser held down their hungry hitters, who have been batting in seven to ten runs per game, while Mike Esposito was collecting two of the three hits allowed to the Prep. It was a 0-0 game until the last inning when a Terrier error with two out caused two Lafayette runners to score, ending the game.

In their first league encounter, St. Francis battled a tough Brooklyn Prep to a 4-0 decision, Hal Bauser, Mike Esposito and Ned Carver starring for the Red and Blue. Esposito's triple started the scoring in the third inning, followed by Carver's double in the fourth to add another run to the box score. Meanwhile, Bauser pitched a brilliant one hitter, striking out seventeen Brooklyn Prep batters and allowing only four to reach first base.

The title favorites added a second victory, over a stubborn Most Holy Trinity, 8-6, to their league record. The contest was a rough one, in which we trailed at one point, 3-0, but soon jumped into the lead, 6-3. Bob Stone, the "Eddie Lopat" of the Terrier nine, pitched a good game, despite some shoddy playing in the field. Stone also collected two hits and two r.b.i.'s in the affair, making himself of double value.

St. Francis' next victory came at the expense of C.H.S.A.A. Brooklyn Champions, Bishop Loughlin. An old fashioned pitchers' duel, in which Hal Bauser threw for St. Francis, the game saw no scoring until Jake Montalbano belted a tremendous home run in the fifth inning with none aboard. The game finally ended 2-0, Fred Sanford scoring the other run after being hit by a pitch.

The last victims of the Terrier Juggernaut as of this writing were the boys of Cathedral Prep. Although weak with the bat at first, the Terriers came along in the later innings with their latent power. Montalbano, Esposito, Torre and Doherty shared eight hits equally as Manny Cardinale pitched a slow but sure victory. The Cathedral set-to was Manny's first outing since his arm injury and he proved to Coach Chick Keegan that he has the stuff to help the Red and Blue along the road to the title. The optimism of St. Francis' hopes to capture the diamond crown seems well-deserved as all signs point toward a Terrier conquest.

Jayvee Baseball

Brother Owen has the distinction of being the only religious coaching in a major sport at the Prep. Teaming up with Brother Cajetan, the Moderator, he has produced a team that has the defense, the pitching, and the spirit to take first place in their League. If any deficiency stands in the way of this goal it is in the hitting. But even here we must except Bob Cefalu and Tom Mulhern, both of whom are presently batting away at a sizzling .350. Joe O'Brien in left field, George Van Cott in the catcher's slot, Mike Welch on the mound, and Walter Keane at third base are other outstanding members of the Jay Vee. At this writing the team has suffered only one loss, an exciting 1-0, ten inning contest with St. John's.

Intramurals

As a part of the complete education afforded its students by Saint Francis Prep, the school provides an intramural sports program for those who do not participate on the interscholastic athletic teams. In 1956, this program was expanded extensively under the direction of Rev. Brother Cyprian, O.S.F., allowing each class to compete in bowling, basketball, softball, volleyball, and touch football. Assisting Brother Cyprian in the bowling matches, the basketball and softball games, not yet completed at this writing, and the future volleyball and football games are Brothers Felician, Leonard and Terence, and Mr. Patrick Gleason.

In the keggers' tourney, 405, lower class winners, defeated 503, the upper class champions, for the school title. High average for the intramurals was 172, including the high game of 211, rolled up by Ed Kofler of 503. The senior class basketball championship was won by 801, who beat 703 for the title, with Phil Pettinato of 801 receiving the most valuable player award for his 35-point effort in the final game. Class 403 gained the sophomore softball class title over 405, as Paul Kelly, the winning pitcher and hitting star, was nominated the most valuable player. The freshman softball diadem was taken by 205 in a close game with 105, with Catanese of the losing squad getting the frosh MVP award. Over three hundred Prepsters have participated in the intramural program up to this date, with the finish of the basketball and softball games and the full slate of volleyball and football contests to follow.

Martin Monahan drops in two points for the cause of Class 801.

Brother Cyprian, Director of the Intramural Program, oversees one of the softball games.

Having surrendered the thought of fame through knighthood, Francis retired to a secluded cave where he sought to discover a direction for the course of his life. Here did God mold and form his soul for the work He was soon to place in his hands.

WEARIED FROM HARDSHIPS and trials endured through wars and illness, young Francis Bernadone undertook the task that must eventually face every man—the quest for his destiny. The world and its familiar surroundings were left behind as he entered deep into the forests and hills of Assisi. The time spent here might be called the great preparation of Saint Francis. Enclosed in an intimacy with Nature which afforded circumstances conducive to meditations, he earnestly asked God what he must do. At last an answer came. He was told, “Go and repair My house.” The time of his seclusion now served him well, for the constant practice of prayer and sacrifice undergone in that cave to which he had removed himself, strengthened him against the inevitable rebuttals and discouragements which accompanied all his efforts in the outer world.

This stage in the career of Saint Francis has been selected as the counterpart to the life of our Underclassmen for obvious reasons. They, likewise, are engaged in the search for vocation. In the daily rounds of their curriculum and activities each student becomes aware of the specific bent of his talents. Probably all this is going on unconsciously, but it is certain that under the impact of either sciences, languages, literature, sports, or other forces, particular abilities are pushing their way to the surface, intellects are becoming flexible, and an over-all tempering and polishing process is underway. These must, of course, pave the way for future professions.

Underlying this individual development, which occurs in all schools, the Underclassmen of the Prep are distinct in that they are grounded in the fundamental spirit of Franciscanism. Although its all-inclusiveness consistently evades the pinpointedness of a definition, we sense it around us in innumerable and varying forms. The fact that true Franciscanism never reduces a man's personality to a common denominator is probably the cause of its illusiveness. But whether it be in Brother Tim's quiet sincerity in his dealings with each student, or in Brother Phillip's genuine interest in guidance and counseling, or in Brother Leonard's gay jocularly in and out of Intermediate Algebra, or in Brother Benignus' hard shelled warmth hidden by his fierce growl, or in Brother Jarlath's charity in the cafeteria or office, we know that we have touched it.

Thus are the Underclassmen preparing themselves as did Francis before them. They are individuals, and yet they are one in sharing the golden quality of Franciscanism. May they cooperate with this Spirit for the most perfect fulfillment of their personalities, and with their founder in this time of apprenticeship offer his prayer, “Lord make me an instrument of Thy peace.”

Our class is assigned to Cell 33. It is composed of the most unique assortment of individuals that this school has ever gathered into a single group. Here may be found the Rock n' Rollers of most renown. Always on hand for a jam session are Moondog Barberie, Bo Diddley Flaherty, and Moose Plucker. We point with pride to our future All-American athletes including Bomber Dunphy, who has been dive bombing the swimming team into victory for almost three years; Squeaky Carbone, who runs out of the half back slot for the football team; Big Ken MacGregor, whose main problem is betting to the basketball games on time; and Larry McCartney whose great bowling average keeps rolling along. Other celebrities worthy of mention are the president of all Latin-American, Chico Gomez; the despair of the teaching profession, King Kong Connolly; casanovas Lucky Molen, and Shine Murray; and the indescribables, Ace Hayes, Cue Ball Mitchell, and Hop Hopkins. With the exception of Sleepy Canavale, the Class is characterized as a jumping, jovial crew. Though we have our eccentricities, the group is loyal to their God, their school, and their fellow-man, and ultimately, who could ask for anything more.

Forty-five Franciscan students eager for success, glory, and adventure, describes this Senior Class. Question of the term: what to do upon graduation? College, a good job, a career in the service — these are the most thought of and talked about. Some who have already made their choices set about preparing for occupations which range through such a variety as those of engineer, school teacher, business man, and military officer. Others of us hesitate in fear of a mistake.

But what are we doing now here at St. Francis? That hankering for the sea, as old as mankind itself, seems to be particularly characteristic of the class. Our enrollment in the sea-rovers of the Patrol Boat Squadron working off the gunboat Little Terrier exceeds that of any other single group. So, beware Swiss Navy — our Squadron with Tom Halton steering all two horsepower, Joe McCarthy navigating toward you with his trigonometric functions, Jim McGowan, Bob Schell, Frank Maxon, Dick Pugh, Harry Sofield, and, in case of emergencies, our speedy reliefer Bob Beyer Asperin, are all getting ready. Larry and Lorne Bucke, Larry Jockel, and Bob Kerby are our mermen. Among the sons of Mercury Dan Toomey and Bob Stone are outstanding, Bobby is also one of the Prep's great pitching prospects come baseball time. Walt Riebenack, monarch of the class, John Ward, assisting dictator, the illustrious John Raspitha, who unfortunately, has an ally in the enemy forces, and Vin Milaccio may be seen wending their way across the darkened field of Red Hook Stadium each evening of the football season. Hark! Do I hear a strain of sweet music! No . . . it was just Pete Gibbon's smooth tuba, Bill Lawlor's sax, Jimmy Gaynor's trumpet, and Van Renterghem's crazy trombone. Gad, what a noise!

In summary, a hopeful and eager bunch are we, grateful and indebted to St. Francis, Brother Timothy, and the entire Faculty.

Class 705

This is the class. Optimates, journalists, athletes, linguists, and gentlemen of leisure, comprise our small group of twenty-four Franciscans. Perhaps our greatest claim to distinction is that in addition to the advanced French course, our group is the first in modern Prep history to undertake Virgil's Aeneid in a fourth year of Latin. We number among our ranks Allan Weatherwax, the unrivalled expert in the language of the Romans; Tom Rizzo, vice president of the Student Council and a Varsity cager; collegiate Jack Schneider, Woodside's ambassador to the Prep; and George Kaiser, our boy counterpart to Wilhelm. Publications claim most of the class talent. Trackman Tom Flood is one of the San Fran's most capable editors. Similarly has The Seraph been well infiltrated by our group. Despot Jerry Marino, its co-editor in chief; Jay McDonnell, mentor of the Prep Prowler column; Jim Hallock, ace photographer; and F. X. Murphy, exchange editor, all make Room 27 their home den. The fact that over half its members have part time jobs after school has, unfortunately, limited other contribution that potentially could be made by this talented class wherein College is the universal ambition. The one incongruous element in our classical traditions is that time when softly through the scholarly atmosphere of a study period comes a suppressed whisper to Count Basie Burghardt, "Steve! A little sax!"

Class 601

Anyone in need of a helping hand knows that 601 can always be depended upon. Those inglorious jobs on both the Library and Cafeteria Squads are accomplished with a lot of help from this Class. Assisting Mrs. Berry we have John Fay, Frank Gulmi, Don Ackerman, Bob Kulpa, and Mike Jewell. Brother Mario finds support from Bob Adee, John Tiano, Berny Mullen, and Walt Young. Other activities in which we have participants are: the Music Department, where John Zarycky, Pete Graseck, Rene Hamel, and Dick Messanelli give promise as the future generation of warblers; the Stamp Club, where Al Frevola, Frank Carlino, and John Zarycky are active; the School Publications, where Frank Carlino is a cartoonist for the Seraph and San Fran, and Messrs. Bukantas, Kulpa, Jewell and Fay are reporters; and finally, the Swimming team, where Jim O'Connor and Brian Trent, the incomparable member of the 200 yard free style relay team, helped in their squad's acquisition of the thirteenth consecutive City Championship.

Class 603

This Class is a well rounded group as evidenced by the wide range of activities in which its members participate. Ed Brett, John Derby, and Mike Esposito lead us intellectually. Each is a member of the Scholarship Club. Mike cannot be passed over without mentioning his notable accomplishment as the unanimous selection to the most valuable player award for the Journal-American All-Star Team in virtue of a game winning triple he drove against the center field wall of the Polo Grounds. Henry Annunziata, Mike Murray, and Angelo Zara are able performers in the Band and Orchestra. Reporting for the newspaper are Bill Westhoff and Bruce Thomsen. In sports, John Hickey is an all-around man. He is a member of the Varsity Baseball, Basketball, and Football Teams. Other athletes include Tony Gabriel and Bob Randall in Track, Bob Doherty in Football, and Bob Langill in Basketball. Thus our group does not restrict its talents to any one activity; study, music, publications, and sports, all provide incentives for our versatile Class.

At 8:50 sharp, the lookout, precariously balanced on the third floor, back-story window ledge, spots the white whale. A Willy's pulls into the schoolyard. Its body markings are unmistakable: a dented left fender, and senior prom bids strewn over the rear window ledge. The Levittown Flyer has docked and the school day has begun for 605.

Once seated the two fold division of the Class becomes apparent. To the left resides the "Phoenix City" section led by Rick Ferry, Phil Cottone, John Connolly, and Dave Gatti. Disruptions of the Class, punish lessons, jug slips, and sundry other assignments are regularly produced in this area. In contrast, there exists the "Sleepy Hollow" section where, for the most part, the children are nestled all snug in their desks.

We, the so-called cream of the 60's, are sparked by several characters. Ray Ratkowski is a sensational performer in both track and football. Jim Brucia is a baseball and basketball letterman. Scholarly-wise George De George is a stalwart of the Principal's List; and Raymond LaBarbera, the mad scientist, is our threat to the late Albert Einstein. John Maresco is our expert on snowball fights and five thousand word reports. Class 605 consists then, of a collection of comics, athletes, and intellectuals, struggling along the rocky road of education.

The Kiss of The Leper

One day while riding the roads about Assisi, Francis was approached by a leper. A heart tearing battle raged within him as he gazed at the ghastly and rotting sores that nauseated him whose fastidious tastes were accustomed to the finest in food, home, and dress. He realized that despite its external appearance, this soul had a beauty in God's sight which warranted His suffering and death to redeem it. Then suddenly he sprang from his horse, threw his arms about the leper, and kissed him full on the lips. Thus did Francis set an example in overcoming personal aversions. For us, the Underclassmen, the aversion may take on such less dramatic aspects as that of our studies. Nevertheless do such matters constitute the matter for our self-discipline. The Franciscan faces up to his duty. Like Francis he overcomes, despite the fact that he "saw his fear coming up the road toward him; the fear that comes from within and not without; though it stood white and horrible in the sunlight."

Class 607

Our Class has a school spirit that cannot be duplicated. No one can honestly say that he has ever attended a school function without seeing there some representatives of 607.

While most Classes vary and shift in their membership from term to term, our group has remained practically intact during three years spent at the Prep. Therefore does a closer bond of comradeship exist among us than is usual. This, combined with the fact that no less than twenty of twenty-four members participate in extra-curricular activities, probably explains the driving spirit born of our group.

Although we are the smallest of the 60's the fame of some of our notable athletes is city-wide. Ray Bausch's discus throw is superb. Larry Judd is certainly destined to become one of the finest of high-jumpers. Gene Johnson is a wall of strength in the line of our championship football team. Of course, in basketball, Tom Stith is everybody's All-American selection. And finally, in Dick Spinelli, we may claim one of the finest pool players in the Metropolitan area.

No less than eleven members of this group are members of the Optimate Society. Of these, Joseph Ferretti's 92.17 average tops the Class. Fred Hanser is another scholastic standout; although only a Junior he has completed all the math courses including those usually reserved for Seniors. In another field of activity, a large contingent of Mrs. Berry's Library Squad is drawn from 501. Jim Bettigole, Bart Hargadon, Frank Kehoe, Dan O'Hara, Tom Scott, and Paul Smollen, are veritable book worms. Those sweet strains emanating from the cafeteria are to a great extent accounted for by Carmine Allocco, Jim Conway, Bill Dunklee, Mike Henning, Herb Major, George Raff, and Joe Ferretti, who work out with either the Glee Club, Band, or Orchestra. Leading the men of athletic prowess is Tony Armstead. In addition to his tremendous hammer-throw and great line play for the championship football team, he is a member of the Spiked Shoe Club. Other athletes include John Finn, Jim Conway, Bob Horohoe, Bob Sherlock, Art Kimball, Mike Jeffrey, and Pat Prout in track. Mike Murphy is a standout football player, and, in basketball, we are represented by Joe Keenan and Brian Connors.

Class 503

Above all else, sports attract our Class. In view of this attraction we regard ourselves as a typical cross-section of American boyhood. We have spent some two and one half years together, and though we still have a lot to learn about one another, the potential of our athletes was obvious from the outset. Everyone could see that Tim Devane, Bob Garry, and Dan Weadock were naturals in the water. Dan Corry and Joe Davis were spotted as a fleet-footed twosome, although many of the teachers on whom Joe waits at lunchtime are most doubtful of his speed. In baseball there are Phil Meagher and Dick McRedmond; in football, Mat Alcuri, a great prospect as a linesman, and, again, Phil Meagher, who may be called on to fill the quarterback position vacated by All-Star Tom Doherty. Ed Kofler scored a sensational 211 score in the bowling intramurals, while his team mates Bob Byrne, Joe Condon, and Ang Martino were not far behind. Other celebrities from the group include Sal Amicizia, who is usually seen chasing Brother Michael around the halls with his camera in hand; Brian Hood of the Flying Club; Kevin Gallagher and John Lipari of the P.B.S.; John Costello, Vin Pacifico, and Tony Brunetti of the Glee Club; and Tom Ciabrone, an accomplished cellist.

Class 401

Rumors have it that Brother Timothy is considering the request to place a bust of Pallas above the chamber door of room 38, the headquarters of Class 401. In this group all but three boys are members of the Optimate Society. Topping these intelligensia is the 94.3 average of Ron Klammer, last year's co-winner of the Freshman Scholarship award. Gennaro Caliendo, John Engel, Bill Tilt, and John Chierico are others with over a 90 average. It is surprising that in conjunction with his superior marks, John Chierico, small and quiet but with a ready wit, is in the most activities. These include the Third Order, Orchestra, Military Band, Glee Club, and the Student Council. Another active member of the Class is our President Ronald Damiano who was appointed Chairman of the Social Activities Committee in the Student Council. Perhaps one would expect a void of athletes in such a group as ours. Such, however, is not the case, for the old adage of a sound mind in a sound body finds its fulfillment in Hugh Connolly, Joe Newman, and Bob Williams of the football squad; Charlie Aeron, Vin Salvo, and Joe Taylor in track; Tom Gowrie in swimming; Joe Anterio and Ron Klammer of the handball team, and lastly, Tom Mulhearn, Bob Williams, Bob Cefalu, and Ron Damiano, our baseball players.

Class 403

"Connolly . . . late again!" Every morning Brother Cajetan says the same thing, and every morning Connolly wanders in anywhere from 8:46 to 9:29. He is only one of a class full of characters.

Several of our students have made their mark as members of the Science Club. Van Bomer built the model of the space ship seen in the last Science exhibition. It's supposedly capable of a trip to Mars. Vin Gavitt, on the other hand, while away his time feeding stray mice to snakes. There is a rumor that these two are going to get together for purposes of populating the little red planet with their favorite brands of rodents and reptiles. Tony Manno has also served as assistant to Brother Louis as Chairman of the Committee on Scientific Awards.

Along other lines Bob (Spinner) Cahill is the future "big thing" of Varsity Basketball. City Championship hopes for next year will rest, to a great extent, on his shoulders. Frank Hegarty runs a fine cross-country, and Tom Forget is a football linesman who is fighting for a starting berth on Coach O'Connor's championship squad.

The foregoing has represented only a few of our personalities. Our group is not in the least stereotyped. Each of us is an individual in his own right. And as any member of the Faculty will agree, any day with 403 is certain to be a varied and interesting experience.

Class 405

Many times have you heard our Class announced over the loudspeaker system. For almost every week, Brother De Porres collects the highest donation of any other Class in the School for the Propagation of the Faith.

But besides this, Class 405 is renowned for more than its generosity. We could open up our own track team. Hugh Mundy is a miler. Doug Tynan and Willie Williams are on the Prep's 440 team, and little Eugene Winters and Willibald Plattner scoot around for the sub-midgets. Bill Messina runs the 50 to 100 yards, and Fred Palumbo, in addition to his football talents, dashes in the 220. Whether on the basketball court or over the hurdles, Bobby Jenkins is always jumping, and Mike Giacinto is always throwing it . . . the shot put, that is.

In other sports Bill Shin is a basketball center of Varsity calibre. This season, unfortunately, he usually ended up on the center of the bench mumbling, "They also serve who stand and wait." But wait till next year. The swimming team is represented by Ed Checkett, a diver, and John McDermott, a backstroker. And lastly, we boast of two fine prospects on the Jay Vee Basketball Team, Ken Walicki and Pete Cummings.

"Look! A flying saucer!" Once again the air alert signal goes out from room 11. Usually during study period, Joe Jaccarino is the one to sound the alarm. Jim Sangiorgio and Ray Maddox are bound to follow, and, in no time, weird sounds emitted by one Richard Quidore fill the room.

Something seems to be missing from the group ever since Brother Theodore made Don James get a haircut. But we make up for it by beating Layfield during Brother Martin's period.

Ken Kaiser is one of the more sensible men about Class. He is on the Library Squad, and he and Bob Dankowski are in the Glee Club.

Frank Felicio and George Van Cott are on the football team. For the team to repeat its championship next year, much will ride with George's performance in the quarterback position. To be sure Ray Maddox practices playing his drums in class; but who can deny that it pays off at the games or in parades. He, Sweeney, and Reilly team up in the Band.

Class 301

Our Class is characterized by its "formidable jesting" and "joshing around", although, of late, writing on the walls has been heavily overruled by several members of the Faculty.

But seriously, we are quite proud of several outstanding citizens who grace our ranks. First, there is Gerry Nichols. Only three of over a thousand students made the Principal's List this year; Gerry's 96.17 average earned for him one of those three positions. Then there is Joe Armstead, our Class President, who commands the respect of the group and who is sincerely active on the Student Council. In addition, there are many who think it no exaggeration to predict that Joe will one day have a job on an American Olympic Team as a quarter miler. Some of the photos in this yearbook were taken by Joe Ponessa. Joe is a quiet guy, but Brother Michael sees "a lot of promise in that boy."

Lastly, in athletics, Tom (watch me on this play) Hall is an iron tank at center on the gridiron; he is a sure bet to move up to the Varsity next year. And Joe Tuohey, a rough rebounder for the basketball team, is always in there "fighting".

Class 303

In addition to being one of the most promising breast stroke swimmers that the Prep has had in years, Bill Blenk is probably the only professional model in the School. It is a common occurrence to see the features of our blond Apollo smiling out of the pages of some newspaper or magazine. While on swimming, we can also mention Jim Knott and Bill Burchanti. Bill, as you remember, was the 100 yard free-style Freshman Champion; and now, having moved up to the Varsity, he was anchor man for the medley relay of our City Championship Swimming Team.

In Track we have Pat Cashin whose father was an Irish Olympic Coach; pa must have passed a lot to his boy because Pat broke the School record for the half mile in his Freshman year. Greg Vescatel is another runner. A pulled muscle unfortunately cut short his services to the Team. Garry Perrin is a promising 220 man. Then, in Bobby Jones, captain of the Cross-Country Squad and one of the mighty mites, we can claim one of the big reasons for the driving spirit of the Track Team. That Bob does not restrict his activities to sports alone is shown by his winning the Freshman Scholastic Scholarship of last year.

The Music Department would simply collapse without the services of Gerry Spadaro, Tom Soresi, Don Guarino, and Dave McHugh.

The Stigmata of Saint Francis

Of all the miraculous events in the life of St. Francis, the greatest occurred one day at dawn on the precipice of Mount Alvernia. After beseeching Christ to allow him the pains which He had suffered on the Cross, the heavens seemed to open unto him. It was as though the sky were exploding and splashing forth in all its glory in millions of waterfalls of colors and stars. Then a six-winged Seraph, the highest angel in the hierarchy of heaven, approached him, with two wings upright, two stretched out as though in flight and two folded against his body. The arms and legs of the heavenly form were as if pinioned to a cross. It was then that he realized that he was in the presence of Christ, Who was before him in the form of a crucified Seraph. Suddenly from His wounds shot forth streams of fire which pierced into the hands, feet, and heart of Saint Francis. The pain of the nails and the stab of the lance brought forth from the Saint an echoing scream of pain and joy. At last, Francis' great love of Christ was complete, for now he was a perfect replica of his beloved.

As miraculously as he had appeared, the Seraph faded back into the realm of his domain. At the climax of the miracle, with the disappearance of the vision, Saint Francis elapsed back into human feeling and sank unconscious into a pool of his own blood. Thus, he became the first of the some three hundred Stigmatas in the history of the world. Through the rest of his life, he was to carry with him the flesh wounds of Christ in his hands and feet.

Tucked away in the little niche called room 25 is our small group of twenty-four students. We are regarded as a well-behaved and cooperative group, and although few of us have soaring averages, our percentage of failures is one of the smallest in the School. Despite our size we have produced front runners in track, swimming, handball, and half a dozen other fields.

Walt Dugan is one of the fastest men on the Track Team. Mike Kennedy of Mr. Booras' Swimming Team wowed all spectators at the C.H.S.A.A. meet with the gracefulness of his terrific back dive. Given another year of seasoning Bill Spraul is certain to be one of the finest baseball catchers in the City. Bob Boeri played fullback for the Jay Vee Football Team. But it is handball which holds the interest of most of 305. Berny Duffy and his followers come from a neighborhood where it is fast becoming the established pastime. Small wonder that they made out so well in the Handball Intramurals. Fred Travaglia, Joe Dispinziere, and Tom McHale also deserve mention as track men.

In other fields Bob LeStrange is Mrs. Berry's right hand man on the Library squad, and Lenny Hargadon is working for his seamanship papers as a member of the Patrol Boat Squadron.

Class of 201

This Class is frequently the winner of the Propagation of the Faith Collection. "When Brother Theodore asks, we give."

The twenty-seven students of our group on the Optimate Society is higher than the aggregation from any other Class. Martin Neville's 92 average tops the list, but five others, John Balaker, John Hearon, Tom Morrow, Don McQuade, and George Lippemeier, have all scored over 90.

Surprisingly, the Class is noted for its tennis devotees. When the inquiry, "Tennis, anyone?" is heard, 201 is right on the ball with Bill Murphy as our foremost netman.

We can all remember the saddest moment of this past year. It occurred after the defeat of St. Francis in the N.I.T. Mr. Gleason brought in two squares of sugar the next day and said, "Well, we got our lumps last night."

Our athletes are George Meyer, George Lippemeier, Steve Murphy, and Jim Cobb of the Track Team. Frank Loughlin and Tom McQuade are on the Swimming Team. Tom is following in the steps of his brother Frank, who did so much toward the Prep's winning its City Championship.

Offer it up!

Class of 203

All hail to a Class of budding geniuses. Nineteen students are members of the Optimate Society. Frank Butkus, Vin Chiarelli, John Luhn, Joe Cortese (high man with 93), and Mike Marco have averages of over 90.

But marks are not the whole story — not by a long shot. Class 203 is undoubtedly one of the most active groups in the School. Brother Benignus was overjoyed by the fifteen "volunteers" who joined his Music Department. Brother must hold some attraction for us because his other activity, the Third Order, has enlisted Tom Farr, Vin Chiarelli, Steve Broderick, Pete Bairdi, Ron Petrocelli, and Mike Marco. Joe Cortese and Dick Bomer work with the Science Club.

In athletics, track and football seem to be our forte. To name just a few of our fledgling track men who are sure to bring many trophies to the Prep, there are Tom Baumann, Tom Masone, Bill Dunn, Gerry Fitzpatrick, Charlie Hanson, Tom Johnson, and Joe Kelly. Football linesmen would include Pete Simonetti, Steve Kakos, and Sal Georgiano; while in the backfield Pete Bairdi, Mike Marco, and Don Marvel have given Coach O'Connor many pleasant dreams of his future Varsity. Others of the Class are in basketball, swimming, baseball, and tennis. Unfortunately space does not permit the complete profile of the exceptional class which combines both mental and physical proficiency so well.

Class 205

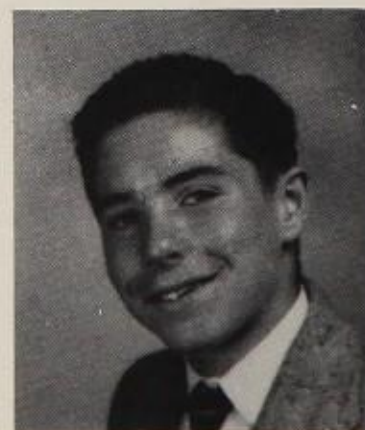

The term is over. So now it can be told. Lyndsey Keene was the culprit who was filching the chalk from Brother Charles out of room 24.

Some few of us, however, have ambitions in other directions. For example, take Frank Lacerenza; he won a jacket in last year's magazine drive. Scholastically we are led by Brendan Costello who racked up a 91 average for the term's work. Tom McSweeney has great potential as a tackle in football, while Joe O'Brien was co-captain of the Jay Vee Baseball Team. It is no exaggeration to call Les Pindar one of the "greats" in track. His 10.8 seconds broke the 100 yard Freshman indoor record; the 880 and mile relay teams are also bolstered by his services; and he is one of the very few Freshmen ever to have been awarded a major letter in track. Then in swimming we are represented by Joe Wall, Brian Murphy, and Nick Cirigliano. Nick copped the Freshman 200 yard free style championship in this year's C.H.S.A.A. meet.

Thus you can see that 205 is outstanding by just being normal.

Class 101

The greatest landmark of Class 101 is our pair of identical twins, Pete and Dick Farley. These fellows look so much alike that the teachers try to avoid them both. With Gil Farley (no relation) also in the Class, roll call gets a bit monotonous each day. However, since Brother Regis claims Gil reminds him of Dutch Shultz, he is easy enough to tell from the other Farleys.

Every Class has its genius, but 101 claims the successor to Albert Schweitzer in Bob Magliano who is widely acclaimed as the greatest "brain" of them all. No wonder he was drafted into the Science Club. In fact, the Class goes in for science in a big way. Pete Callaghan's classification of animal and plant cells, and Rich Passariello's two way telegraph were seen on exhibition in the Bio Lab. George Sehn, Greg Remenk, and Dave Armstrong are all members of the Science Club.

Marty Hamburger, our Class President, is the object of a hundred jokes a day. For example: "Well done, Hamburger." But unless he's in a rare mood, Marty takes no more than passing interest. Mark Anthony O'Rourke, a pitching prospect for the Baseball Team, is, needless to say, one of Brother Vincent's favorite jokes.

Class 103

Our Class has a reputation for being one of the most genial in the school. Our stay at the Prep is only a few months old, but in this short time several of our members have mapped out programs for themselves which will bring future honors to St. Francis. Tony Dolce is studying the trumpet under Mr. Gilroy in hopes of attaining a berth in the Military Band. Bob Krauss, our Class President, is on the starting five of the Frosh Basketball Team, and, in addition, plays third base for the Jay Vee Baseball Team. Ed Connolly is another basketball player destined ultimately for the Varsity.

Zachary Garr and Jim Sammon are two other promising hoopsters. Three of our men have made the Track Team. Both Mike Sawyer and Ken Wittreich are members of the 220 relay, and Shawn O'Shea unlimbers himself in the 100 yard dash.

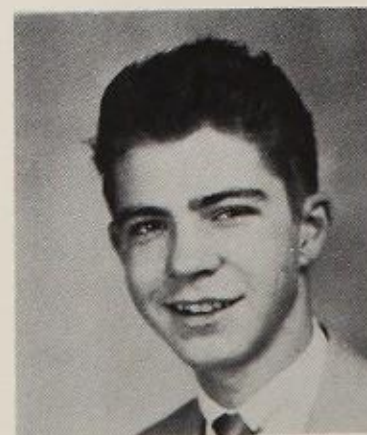

Most of us are just getting the swing of things here. The preceding students have spearheaded our sharing in the life of the School. More of us will follow.

Class 105

This is the Class. Class 105. I work here. I'm a student.

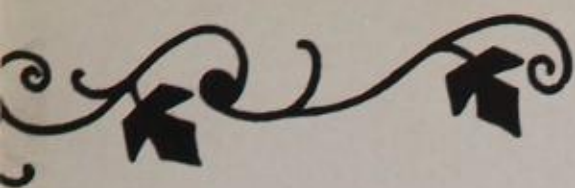

All kinds of people make up our group: sportsmen, musicians, jokesters. And they all have one thing in mind — get to 205. We operate out of room 29 with Brother Fabian, and out of the Bio Lab with Mr. Gleason. The rest of the day we spend in room 28.

Ray Nash is the ring-leader. He is our President and quite an all around guy. He plays right guard on the Freshman Basketball Team and second base on the Jay Vee Baseball Team. John Hennessey is one of the top Freshman basketball players. The football coaches have been casting greedy eyes on Dick Quinton. John Kane is our gift to the Swimming Team. Snappy Napier is our man with the beat. He plays clarinet in the Military Band. Bob Sheehan is already a member of the Third Order, and through his example, more of us are becoming interested in it. And of course there is always "Sleepy" Donohue . . .

GRADUATES AND FACULTY

1210 was a pivotal year in the life of St. Francis. At that time, he and eleven followers took the road to Rome where Pope Innocent III imparted to them his formal documentation and approval of their way of life. These next pages present our Graduates. Like St. Francis, they have received their accreditation to perform the work in the world assigned to them in the plans of Providence.

INITIALLY, SINCE THIS SECTION combines both Graduates and Faculty in a single unit, an explanation for this arrangement is in order. To the individuals of either of these fraternities, who feel that their personal dignity has suffered through such an incongruent merger, the editors do apologize. Actually our explanation is simply that it requires no exaggeration of the existing Faculty-Graduate relation to warrant the San Fran's joining the two. Indeed, the intensity of this filiation, through Francis of Assisi, prescribes just that arrangement for a complete Franciscan theme.

On looking into the two distinct periods into which biographers often divide the life of Francis, one discovers that the roots of this union seem to reside in the very personality of the Saint. The first period is the reckless youth of Francis, comparable perhaps to the life of a Senior. The elder Francis, who has realized the importance of God and the consequent necessity of leading others to Him, suggests the Faculty, elder men of wisdom and determined vocation. This twofold analogy—the similarity in the one Saint to both teacher and student—is a great compliment to the men and boys of Saint Francis, but it is one they must earn daily in the necessary trivia of the classroom, and prove eventually in the fateful course of later life.

Of the Graduates and the youthful Francis it can be said, somewhat apologetically, that the one thing they both have in common is the desire to be eccentric and non-conforming. Recall the fabulous tales of the adolescent Assisian: Francis the troubadour who sings his nocturnal melodies in graveyards and beneath the balconies of Assisi's fairest, and whose fathers often reward him with a bucket of water; Francis the gregarious who foots the cost of most of the wild parties of his companions, and who barely loses bets on his ability to put away two pints of wine and twenty-four oysters without stopping.

Paralleling this youth we have the antics of the Seniors. The very position they hold in the student hierarchy demands that they act in any way but the conventional, and that they have confidence in no one but themselves. They start rallies and stop subway trains; they speak loudly and reason softly; they prefer laughing to learning; and try to get out of everything—especially school—with the most enjoyment and least effort.

As time went on Francis discovered a goal toward which to apply this energy of youth, and the rest of his life is a beautiful prayer. The Graduate, with his energy, has much of life ahead of him. To make the best possible use of this gift he needs the advice and help of the Faculty, who comprise part two of this Franciscan parallelism.

In comparing the older Francis with one of the Prep Faculty, either Brother or layman, the likeness of their vocations stands out. With Francis they have found a worthwhile object for their zeal. They teach toward it with some enjoyment and much discouragement. They are more esthetic than practical, as Francis was, for laudably as well as financially theirs is a meager way. We think it not presumptuous to assume that the success of a Prep Graduate constitutes a good part of their remuneration.

The Franciscan Teacher of today was a graduate of yesterday. The Graduate of today is a teacher of Franciscanism always. On the following pages, the Faculty and Graduates of 1956 are seen together for the last time. Some of each teacher leaves with each student; a bit of each student stays with his teachers; and all of Saint Francis of Assisi stays with both.

A black and white photograph of a forest path. Sunlight filters through the dense canopy of tall trees, creating a series of bright, diagonal rays of light that illuminate the path and the forest floor. The ground is covered with a thick layer of fallen leaves and low-lying plants. The overall mood is serene and natural.

Father Nolan addresses the Graduates. "Gratitude is an extension of justice . . . you can best repay your parents and the faculty by living on the basis of Christian Principles."

Graduation

at St. Vincent De Paul's

The faculty pensively observe another group of educated young men leaving their charge to enter the world.

Thoughts of bygone days occupy the minds of the Seniors as the all important moment approaches.

A determined class of Seniors, led by Brother Benignus, prepare to enter St. Vincent de Paul's Church.

Great expectations become a reality for Gerard Fassig. The diploma and congratulations having been received, only the world lies ahead.

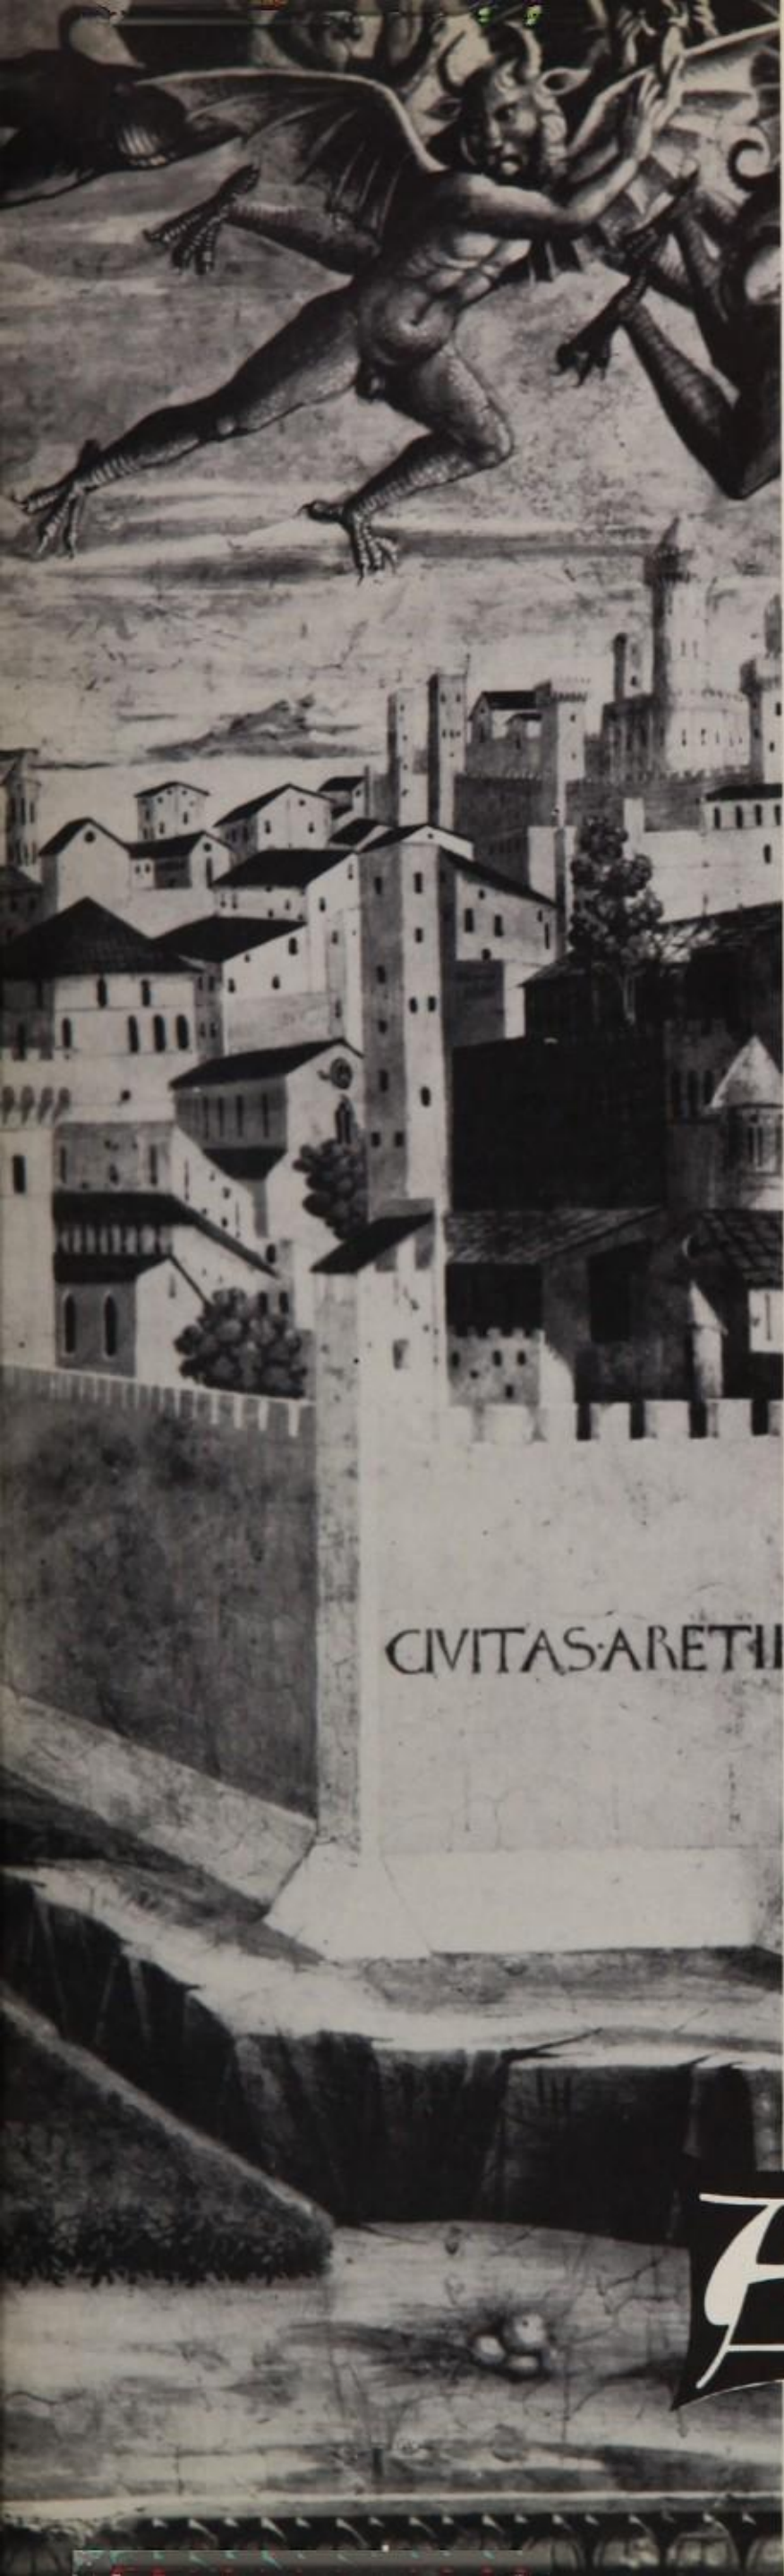

Rev. Brother Benignus, who has directed the Graduation proceedings for over twelve years, grows a word of friendly advice as Frank Wissel steadies his nerves.

John Corrizzo, followed by Bill McLoughlin and Frank Clines, casts a nostalgic glance toward the halls he has come to know so well.

Unlike the monks of an earlier time, Francis and his followers did not confine themselves within the walls of monasteries. Instead, they combined their monastic seclusion with innumerable activities among men. This painting depicts St. Francis and Brother Sylvester engaged in one such activity. They are pictured as driving the devils from the town of Arezzo which was ravaged by internal civil war. Peace through good government followed upon their visitation.

THE MISSION of Saint Francis upon the earth had an eminent social character. Large crowds from all levels of society gathered to hear his sermons. Indeed, from Rome to Jerusalem, the mere fact of his passing through a town was enough to bring together an assembly charged with an air of festivity.

From the higher classes, nobles entreated him to remain in their cities and offered him tracts of land, churches, and monasteries, while Cardinals from the Papal Court might be numbered among his visitors in the crude hovels which he frequented. Both the Pope and Emperor Frederick were deeply concerned over Francis' safety during his sojourn in the Holy Land. There, the Egyptian Sultan Meledin admired him for his courage in spreading Christianity, and included in the many Moslem leaders who respected him was the brother of the great Saladin who gave the Saint a guarantee of safe conduct through all of Islam.

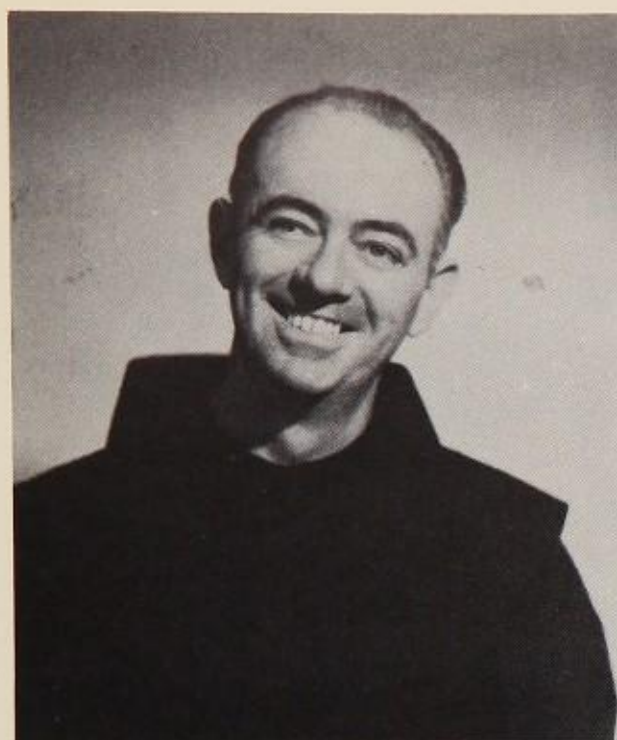

Of course, the apostolate of Francis was not confined to the nobility and the hierarchy. His association with the lower classes, from his kiss of the leper to his refusing a nobleman's invitation for the sake of joining in the meal of a group of beggars outside the palace gates, is almost proverbial.

St. Francis Preparatory School seeks to perpetuate this social aspect of their founder's heritage by an intensive program of Activities. Their value in laying a foundation for the "know-how" of human relationships can hardly be questioned. The intelligentsia find scope for their talents with the Duns Scotus debaters or the Galvani scientists. The romantics sail the seas with the Power Boat Squadron or soar beyond the clouds with the Blue Angels. Aesthetics range the Music Department and publications. The apostolic-minded work through the Third Order and the Militants. The Spring Fling, the Sophomore Hop, Proms, Skating Parties, and Boat Ride constitute gatherings whose end is the further social development of the individual.

As perhaps only editors who have had the task of compiling the Activities can fully appreciate, we here vouch for the noteworthy manner in which the Prep has perpetuated this quality of Franciscanism.

CTIVITIES

Jovial Brother Benignus' completion of his eighteenth year as Moderator of the Third Order has probably established a term of service that will never be equalled.

Father Sigmund and Brother Benignus are flanked by the officers of the Third Order: Dick McKenna, Jerry Marino, Jim McAllister, Louis Miritello, and George DeGeorge.

Third Order

The most direct extension of Franciscanism at the Prep is the Third Order. It was conceived in the mind of St. Francis himself as a means of satisfying the demands of thousands who asked to join his Order, yet who were prevented from so doing because of their obligations in the world. This global organization, composed primarily of lay people, permits one to follow the Rule of St. Francis while not binding him to vows, or obligating him to enter Religious life. Third Order members are given certain prescriptions they must follow. In return, they partake of all of the graces of the Franciscan Order.

The local Chapter at the Prep is under the guidance of Brother Benignus. Meetings are held once a month in the Monastery Chapel. A sermon, Benediction, and an opportunity for Confession and spiritual direction from Father Sigmund, O.F.M. Cap., are followed by recreation in the cafeteria.

A boy wishing to join the Order is first invested as a Novice, a state which lasts for a year and a day. During this time he must faithfully adhere to the saying of certain prayers and rules of conduct. On the completion of the Novitiate period he is professed and continues in the Order as a Tertiary. Members are urged to continue their affiliation with the group even after graduation so that the purpose for which St. Francis established it might be accomplished — that God may be brought into the everyday lives of individuals living out their course of existence in the world.

Louis Miritello, Secretary of the Third Order, explains the purpose of the Congregation to new members, Roy Baiata, Vin Fontana, and Jim Murray.

Father Sigmund, O.F.M. Cap., blesses the members of the Order with the Holy Eucharist. Benediction services are the usual culmination of the monthly ceremonies held in the Chapel of the Saint Francis Prep Faculty House.

At each meeting the Third Order is addressed by their Chaplain, Father Sigmund. The topics discussed are pertinent applications of Christian principles to the lives of Prep students.

To Brother Aquinas, now Superior of St. Leonard's Academy, is due the credit of resurrecting the Third Order at St. Francis Prep.

Prior to their monthly spiritual exercise during the season of Lent, Third Order members pause in a moment of adoration.

Principal's List

For compiling overall semester averages of 95% or greater, students are placed on the Principal's List. Members of this group are entitled to wear the coveted Principal's Key. We here congratulate those students for the hours of diligent and, unfortunately, too often unsung efforts, which were the necessary accompaniment for their high achievement.

Edwin Rissmann — 96.83

George DeGeorge — 96.17

Gerard Nichols — 96.17

Honors

Optimate Society

Students attaining semester averages of 85% or better in their subjects are placed in the Optimate Society. The Optimate Pin is given them in recognition of scholastic accomplishment.

Precise classroom instructions are the prelude to every flight. Joe Plucker, Jim Hallock, Dick Pugh, Oscar Brauer, Brian Hood, John Spittler, Don D'Agostino, and Bob Beyer make up the attentive group.

The Staten Island Ferry, en route to the airport, is the setting for a quick review of the maneuvers of the day as scheduled for Walt Riebenack and Don D'Agostino.

Blue Angels

As the Prep Flying Club continued its second year of operation, four flights were recorded as having completed competently the prescribed training program. Members of the Club are provided with a course of instructions that coordinates ground school with actual flight experience. The first flights introduce the students to rudimentary straight and level flying and simple turns. Progressing from these, they advance to a proficiency in climbs, dives, glides, and steep turns. Their last two hops concentrate on take-offs and techniques in landing procedure. Brother Michael, the Club's Moderator, has given education at the Prep a unique aspect by employing his talents acquired as a Navy fighter pilot to the cause of Franciscanism.

Tom Flood and Brian Trent demonstrate how not to spin a prop.

A fledgling holds his breath as Brother Michael demonstrates a peel off out of a formation.

Militants

The Militants seek to train Christian Leaders. Various religious, social, and academic problems of Prepsters are investigated with an "inquiry method" whereby a situation is observed, judged, and acted upon in accordance with the mind of Christ. The Club, moderated by Brothers Philip and Cabrini, is a member of the New York Federation of Young Christian Students through which it participates in both a regional and national apostolate. This year the group attended the National Y. C. S. study weekend at St. Joseph's College in Indiana. Bill Robertson was appointed Federation Vice President and George DeGeorge was associate editor of the Federation's publication, The Sentinel.

Bill Robertson injects a little humor into his monthly report to the Militants.

Brother Felician initiates a class by underlining the goal for his group, which consists of the best students of the school.

Scholarship Club

Rising early to make classes that convene at 8 A. M., this group receives special instructions and advice for obtaining college scholarships. Its success is manifested by a compilation of $44,000 in tuitions over the past two years. The teachers who generously donate their time as coaches are Brother Felician, the moderator, Brother Noel for mathematics, Brother Miles for English, Brother Leonard and Mr. Ellinghaus for science, Mr. Payne for history, and Brother Owen for civics.

The Power Boat Squadron

On November 11, 1955 at 1300 a forty-two foot cabin cruiser, the "Little Terrier" by name, churned its way out of its Whitestone anchorage to initiate a three and a half hour run to Centerport, Long Island. The decks and cabins were areas of constant activity. Bearings were taken from each prominent navigational aid encountered, currents and tides were checked, and positions were plotted at least once during every twenty minute period. The ship reached its destination safely. Then on Sunday, November 13, the return trip was made with the same constant attention to piloting and navigational problems. This excursion was a milestone in marking the success of the newly organized Power Boat Squadron at Saint Francis Prep under the very able direction of Brother Louis. Thus was our school able to offer its students a form of education unrivalled in academic institutions.

The nucleus of the club, but far from its entire membership, is a group of nine Prepsters who attend the professional lectures given by the United States Power Boat Squadron. These boys have already received a solid foundation in small boat handling and a USPS piloting certificate. Then, with the assistance of Brother Louis, these nine present their acquired knowledge to the much larger group. All members are given frequent opportunities to apply aboard ship what they have learned of tides, currents, compass variation and deviation, rules of the road, fire prevention, and general seamanship. The "Little Terrier," a cabin cruiser purchased by the school through Army surplus, is the proving ground for putting theory into practice by means of short week-end jaunts to Riker's Island or Execution Rock in the East River.

The ultimate ends of the squadron are to establish a high standard of skill in the handling and navigation of small boats, to cooperate with Government agencies in enforcing navigational laws and regulations, and to stimulate interests tending to build up our Navy, Coast Guard, and Merchant Marine.

With Kevin Gallagher at the oars, Frank Maxson, Tom Halton, and Ken Bukantas have ferried themselves from the C.Y.O. dock to their ship lying at anchor in the harbor.

Bud Sofield and Kevin Gallagher fill up with gas before a week end cruise.

Brother Louis takes the helm through a tricky passage in the river channels.

Members of the Squadron prepare to stow their gear aboard ship prior to an extended navigation trip to Centerport.

Seaman Casey diligently maintains his watch.

"The Little Terrier" rides at her moorings in Long Island Sound as deck hands prepare to weigh anchor.

Press Club

The Press Club assigns reporters to all Prep activities, teams, and clubs for the purpose of gathering information that might be used for press releases to the metropolitan newspapers. A weekly newsletter is sent to all these papers. Thus has much recognition been garnered for the Prep's boating squadron, flying club, yearbook, for the phenomenal football and basketball teams of 1956, and for many other school sponsored activities. Another important function of the Club is the compilation of a reference library for all publicity notices. After they have been posted on the bulletin board, clippings are collected and chronologically pasted into scrapbooks.

Brian Trent, Lorne Buck, Sal Amicizia, Larry Buck, and Larry Jockel (standing), and Mike Alvarado, Frank McQuade, Brother Alphonsus, Jim Cutter, and Bill Robertson (seated) constitute the backbone of the Press Club.

Latin Club

The acquisition of the Latin Diploma-Certificate awarded by the National Student's Latin Honor Society is the goal of the Prep's highly selective Latin Club which generally accepts only those students with an average of 90% or higher. At meetings held every other week, this group purposes to foster personal cultural development through the investigation of classical antiquity. In addition to museum visits, lectures, films, and engaging in such projects as reconstructing Roman cities, the Club participates in several competitions including those sponsored by the Baird Memorial, the Catholic Classical Association of Greater New York, and the Association for the Promotion of the Study of Latin.

Bill Coleman, Phil Cottone, Louis Marano, Walt Reibenack, Allen Weatherwax, Dick Messanelli, Bob Rippa, and Sal Colosa make up a bright and cheery crew. Brother Vincent, the Moderator, likewise beams upon his charges.

Poster Club

Informal gatherings called for by the needs of Dances, Sports, special mood creations as at Christmas time, and a variety of Prep activities, characterize the atmosphere of the Poster Club. The pressure of assignments sometimes calls for as many as five meetings a week. The contributions of Lawrence McCartney and Lorne Buck, which comprised about sixty per cent of the Club's work, were pointed out for special commendation by Brother Cabrini, the Moderator.

Tom DiGiacomo, Ron Cullen, Joe Osborne, Larry McCartney, Brother Cabrini, Joe Woltering, and Tony DeNunzio (standing), and Tim Sullivan and Ray Maddox (kneeling) observe the installation of another Poster Club production.

Brother Noel waits for a reply from Ray LaBarbera, John Quinn, Pete Baiardi, Ed Rissmann, Bob Kelly, Bill Robertson, Fred Hanser, Mike Esposito, or Phil Cottone.

Math Club

To acquaint interested students with the different types of mathematics on a more advanced level, as well as to aid in preparing its members for college math courses, is the main purpose of the Mathematics Club. This group, moderated by Brother Noel, is instructed weekly in such matters as the rules and methods for arithmetical and geometrical progressions, the derivation of formulas, various short cuts for solving complicated problems, and practical applications of mathematics. With such a program it is small wonder that several of the Prep's finest students comprise the body of the Club.

As a consistently competent and dependable typist, regardless of how many reams of copy were pushed his way, George Dunn's services to the yearbook were invaluable.

Phil Cottone, Ed Rissmann, Jim McAllister, and Frank Carlino scan through the pages of old yearbooks before planning their assigned tasks for the '56 San Fran.

The Yearbook Conference held at Fordham University is the scene for Brother Michael's discussion with editors Bill Robertson and Pat O'Daly.

San Fran

From the viewpoint of the San Fran, 1956 might well be named as The Year of Awards. The results of the three competitions entered were as follows: The National School Yearbook Association awarded an "AA" score which was described as "a score rarely given to a few books which are complete in every detail considered essential to the modern book"; The Catholic School Press Association placed it in its highest rating as a "Yearbook of Distinction" in virtue of scoring thirty-one out of a possible thirty-eight E's (excellent); The Columbia Scholastic Press Association awarded it a First Place for compiling over eight hundred fifty out of a possible thousand points. The Columbia Press alone has only one more rating which conceivably may have been achieved, namely, the "Medalist Award". In striking out for that "Medalist", this year's San Fran is composed of what our moderator has described as potentially one of the finest staffs assembled. Pat O'Daly, Editor-in-Chief, brings to bear three years of editorial and photography experience. Under his photographic wing, and looking to the future, are the young but promising Sal Amicizia and Joe Ponessa. Editors Jim McAllister, Ed Rissmann, and Bill Robertson have years of journalistic experience behind them as members of the Seraph. And Frank Clines, Ed Imperatore, and John Richetti are three of the Prep's top students. Rounding out the crew is a squad of capable research men, prose contributors, photographers, artists, and runners. Hopefully, then, we submit our labors of a year to the student body as a worthy remembrance of 1956.

Camera work is the heart of a yearbook. Senior photographer Pat O'Daly passes on some of the tricks of the trade to Sal Amicizia, Joe Ponessa, and Jim Hallock on whose shoulders will fall the traditions of fine photo work in the San Fran.

Sean Gordon's removal to Detroit was a great loss to the Yearbook. His cartoons appeared throughout the Undergraduate Section of this book.

Brother Michael, Moderator of the Yearbook, muses over some copy from his familiar station in room 27.

Sports Editor Bill Robertson points out some alterations in a write up for the benefit of Joe Kelly.

Tom Flood, Oscar Brauer, Larry Farrell, and John Richetti approve or reject photos submitted for publication.

Seraph

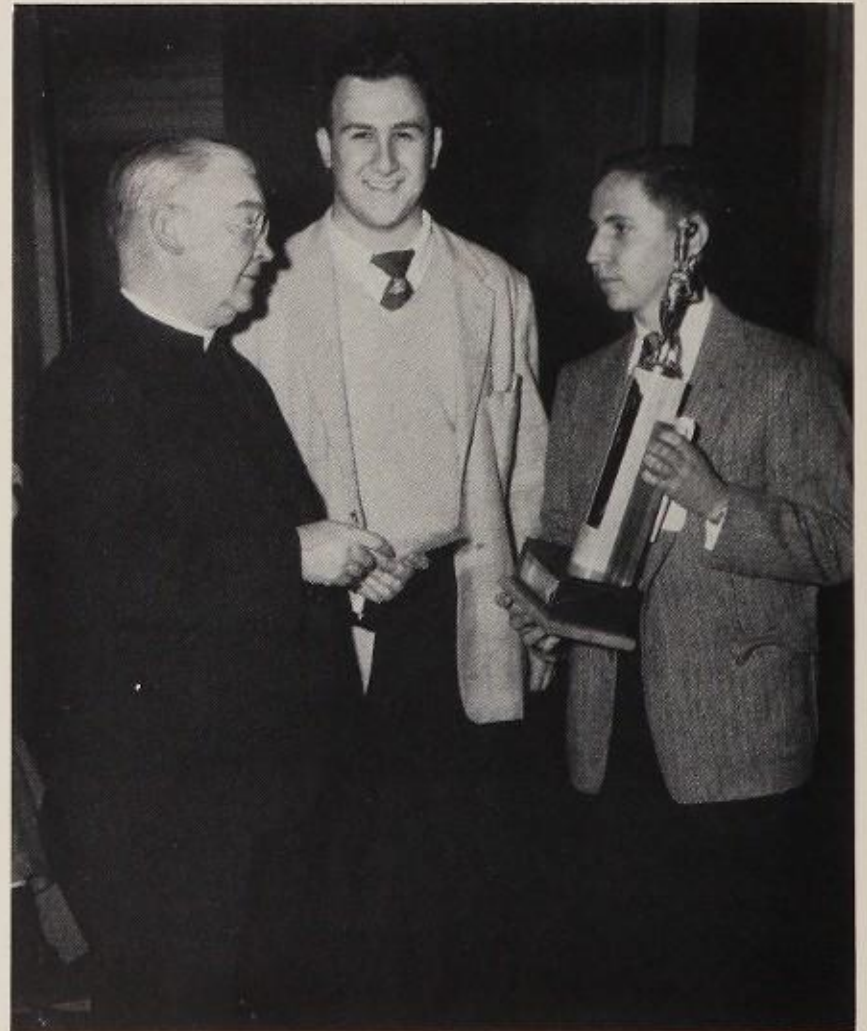

Following in the tradition of medieval Franciscans like St. Anthony of Hales who spread knowledge and truth through their work, the aim of the Seraph is to keep students well informed on day to day occurrences at the Prep through the integrated action of editors, reporters, feature writers, cartoonists, and photographers. The level of their achievement was attested to by the winning of first prize for the most original format at the Publications Conference at Bishop McDonnell High School. In an effort to sustain and improve the calibre of the publication four members of the staff attended the summer course at the Journalism Institute for High School Students at Catholic University in Washington. Gerry Marino, Sal Allocco, Jim McAllister, and Ed Rissmann comprised this first representative group from St. Francis to attend the Institute. Their work there on The Pioneer as page editors and assistant page editors, in addition to establishing a high standard for future Prepsters who will share in what promises now to be a yearly scholarship, provided the know-how of modern journalistic techniques which characterized the Seraph of 1956.

Joe Cortese points out the best of his geological specimens to Bob Matarazzo.

Galvani Society

The Galvani Society was completely reorganized this year. The major piece of work was the drawing up of a constitution which provides for meetings, dues, membership, and officers.

The best feature of the newly reorganized Club is its provision for a six committee system. The first, the Science Show Committee, plans, advertises, and supervises the shows at which the members exhibit their scientific endeavors. This task is assigned to Joe Cortese, Bob Magliano, and Greg Remenek. The second, composed of Van Bomer, Dick Bomer, and Phil Reichmeider, handles newspaper releases. Bob Matarazzo, Frank Tisher, and Lou Krouse constitute the Field Trip Committee, which arranged the trip to the Sperry Gyroscope plant. The fourth committee suggests the projects to be undertaken by individual members. Dick Hennessey, Fred Hanser, and Dick Inzerillo have this responsibility. Fifthly, the awards and emblems are distributed by George Sehn, Bob Broadhurst, and Dave Armstrong. Lastly, the Invitation Committee invites guest speakers to appear before the club. This task falls to Tony Dindaro, John Foster, and Paul Bendrius.

As a service to the school, the Galvani Society held chemistry classes under the guidance of Brother Louis and Raymond LaBarbera. Oxygen, hydrogen, water, and atomic energy were a few of the topics discussed.

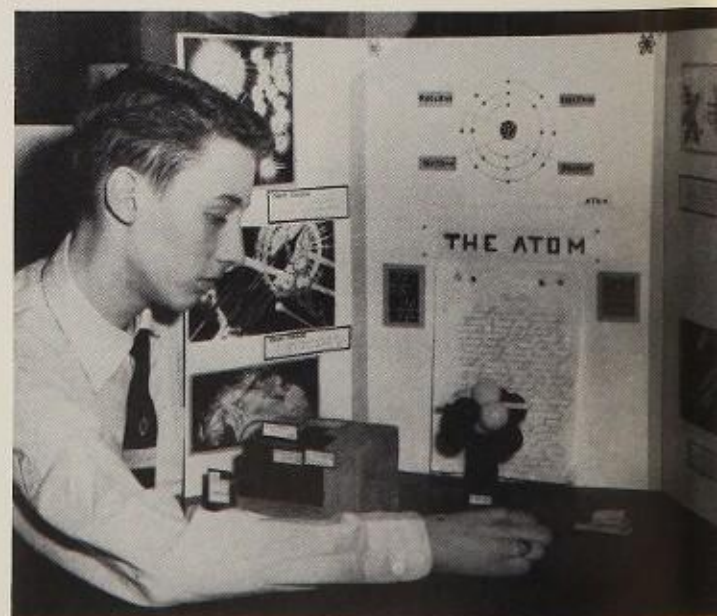

Grouped about Fred Hanser, who explains the intricate construction of his combination spark coil and high frequency coil, Frank Soeder, Vin Gavitt, Van Bomer, Louis Krause, Ray LaBarbera, Dick Inzirello, Dick Hennessey, and Dick Bomer are an attentive audience.

Louis Krause displays his project which outlines the basic structure of the atom.

Stamp Club

Fortnightly meetings find rabid philatelers stamp swapping, discussing geography, history, values, or oddities behind a stamp, and approving or rejecting stamp purchases. This Society exhibited two major projects in the library. One, in honor of All Saints' Day was entitled "Saints in Stamps"; the other was "Sports in Stamps".

Debating Club

"Clear thought presupposes the exercise of the will." Carrying forward the motto of their patron, the great Franciscan scholar, Duns Scotus, the debaters continued in another year of betterment of the mind through logical thinking. Opening the verbal wars was "Resolved, that the Constitution is a menace to life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness", with Ed Imperatore and Frank Clines for the positive, and Ed Rissmann and Vin Fontana for the negative. Other topics occupying the group were "Resolved, That the Federal Government Should Subsidize Education", "A Just Annual Wage", and "Subscription T.V."

Under the scrutiny of Mr. Roger Morrissey, John Quinn, Ed Rissmann, Bill Robertson, Vin Fontana, and Bob Beyer, a poised Ed Flynn tries his hand at extemporaneous speaking.

Diverting from a ten year tradition, Prepsters elected Rye Beach as the destination for their annual boat ride. With all aboard, the John A. Meseck leaves its pier at the Battery.

Departure time draws near as a long and winding line of students await admission.

Prepsters pause to dream of Rio as the South American freighter
Monte Brazil passes them in the East River.

The Board of Governors: Front Row: Messrs. Randall, Palumbo, Esposito, Sherlock, Meade, and Cummings. Back Row: Messrs. Davis, Blomquist, Ambrosino, Fontana, Walker, Dunphy, and Gowrie.

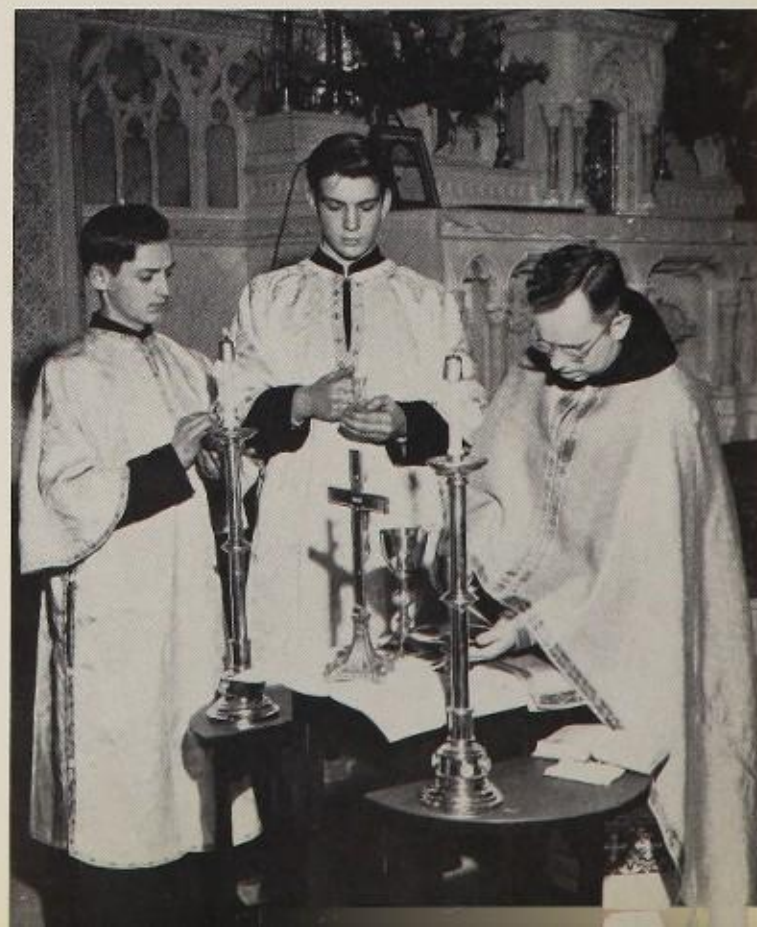

Fathers' Club

The officers of the Fathers' Club are: Mr. John Rourke (Vice President), Mr. John Desiderio (Treasurer), Mr. Charles Kauke (President), Brothers Alphonsus and Mario (Co-Moderators), Mr. Patrick O'Daly (Secretary).

At the annual Smoker, one of the fathers chips in to act as a vendor.

Walter Slefanyshny and John Zarycky attend Rev. Paul Guthrie, O.F.M. at services in the Byzantine Rite sponsored by the Fathers' Club.

Brother Robert reaches deep into his files to answer a vocation query from Joe Thompson and Sal Allocco.

Anthonian Club

Under the sponsorship of St. Anthony, this group spends its energies for the increase of Religious Vocations to both the Priesthood and Brotherhood. Although members need not have a Religious career in mind for themselves, Brother Robert, the vocational director, is always on hand to offer any personal information or literature. To accomplish its end the Anthonians make a daily visit for the intention of increased vocations, receive Communion every other week, distribute literature, attend periodic Holy Hours, and arrange trips to Seminaries or Novitiates.

Guidance Club

The important functions of the Guidance Club include maintaining the career file in the library, obtaining occupational information for students, and serving as guides, ushers, or at other tasks during the various programs sponsored by the Guidance Department.

Mike Morgantini and Frank Cambria gaze in awe at the queen-elect of the Thanksgiving Dance. Tom Doherty is the escort.

Tom Rizzo and Larry Jockel are obviously enjoying the Sports Hop as they lead their charming guests through a fox trot.

Der Fuehrer observes his passing legions.

Tony Brunetti, Vin Cannavale, Mike Fitzpatrick, and their guests drift along in abstraction at the Spring Fling.

Frank Clines and Jim Donnelly take a break to chat with their guests of the Sports Hop.

To Mr. Payne goes much of the credit for the success of many dances of the year. He was always on hand to assist the students in the capacity of Moderator.

Hank Amann and his guest are served up a coke by John McBride who acted as barkeep at many dances.

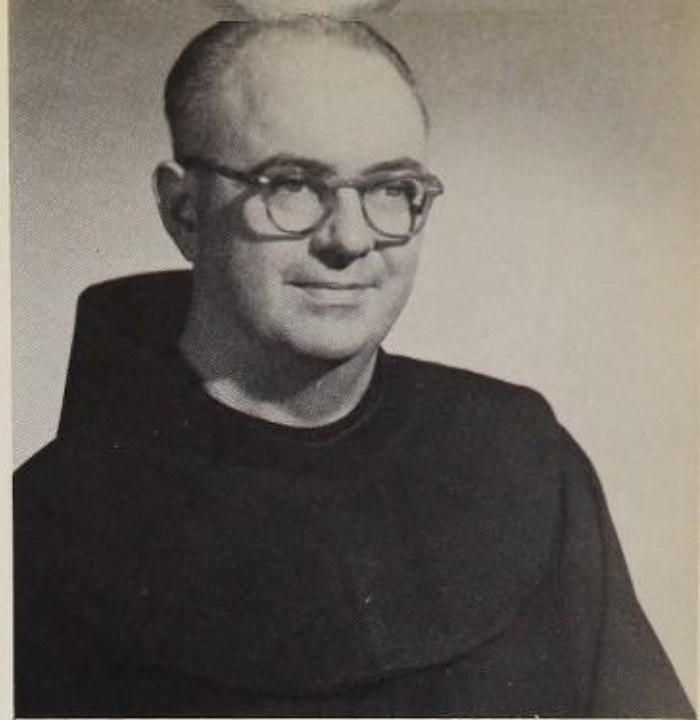

The guests of P. J. Reynolds and Pat McNamara giggle as Pat describes his latest exploit in the wild blue yonder with the Blue Angels.

At the Winter Carnival, Roland Damiano and his date try out a lindy.

Music

The strains of the Lustpiel Overture heralded the commencement of the twelfth annual concert of the Music Department held at the Brooklyn Academy of Music. Thus did the painstaking efforts of a year on the part of vocalists and instrumentalists come to their culmination. Congratulations are to be accorded Brother Benignus, Brother Robert, Mrs. McDonald, Mr. Gilroy, and Mr. Foster for their fine work in coordinating what appeared to many of us, the uninitiated, as so many segments of discordant sounds.

Rev. Brother Benignus, O.S.F.

MRS. MARIE McDONALD
Glee Club, Pianos, Dance Band

Oklahoma, An Italian Medley, some armed forces selections, and a few religious hymns were the leading presentations of the Glee Club at the twelfth annual concert. Comprised of some seventy-five voices, this group, which is the largest single branch of the Music Department, is directed by Mrs. McDonald. From this larger group, a select chorus consisting of the better singers, has been assembled. Besides demonstrating their ability at graduations, concerts, First Fridays, and other functions, the select group has entered the annual Feis at Fordham University in which they are the defending champions. This designation was captured in virtue of Sal Allocco's second place and Leonard Tucker's third place in the Tenor Solo, as well as the Glee Club's first prize considered as a group.

A piano section has been organized under the same supervision as that of the Glee Club. This section is composed of Sal Allocco, Phil Bellucci, Ken Rapp, Peter Bopp, Bill Ramensky, Brian Trent, George Raff, Herb Major, Don Guarino, Don Kauke, and James Sangiorgio. The Minuet in E, The Rhondo Brillante, and The Coronation March were their selections featured at the annual concert.

The last charge of Mrs. McDonald is the Dance Band. Under the direction of Phil Ambrosino, another year of renditions at over a dozen social activities sponsored by the school were carried on. To name the Thanksgiving Dance, the post-basketball socials, the Senior-Faculty Night, and the Christmas Dance would be to mention only a few such activities to whose success the Band has contributed greatly.

In all, the Band consists of forty-eight members. Individual lessons are given during study periods, at lunch time, and after classes. After the attainment of proficiency, a student then joins the group practices which are held on Mondays and Thursdays. The Band is probably best known to the student body for its version of such popular tunes as Rock Around the Clock, Wake the Town and Tell the People, and Honey Babe, at the rallies and football games. But besides this, the Band has also received recognition for its participation in parades such as those on St. Patrick's Day, and those sponsored by the Firemen and the Holy Name Society. At the Twelfth Annual Concert Mozart's Magic Flute was perhaps the outstanding piece performed by the Band.

The Accordions, like the Band, are under the direction of Mr. Gilroy. However they perform only at the concert itself. The Esperanza Waltzes by Waldenfel and The Helena Polka were admirably rendered by the ten members who were called upon to master their techniques to the point of synthesizing five separate playing parts in the course of these intricate selections.

The Orchestra is made up of the finest performers of the Band, combined with the addition of some ten violins, two cellos, two violas, and a bass. Mr. Foster directs this group.

For the past four years Peter McHugh has acted as concert master. Peter's outstanding talents received wide recognition recently through a concert he gave at Carnegie Hall under the sponsorship of the American Federation of Musicians.

In addition to this individual performance, the Orchestra as a whole was awarded a first place trophy in the city-wide High School Music Festival. The required selection, the Nutcracker Suite, and their optional piece, the Poet and Peasant Overture, were admirably executed.

At the annual concert the Orchestra provided the accompaniment for the Glee Club in their Military Medley, Italian Medley, and selections from Oklahoma. Mr. Foster's own arrangements were used. Besides this accompaniment, the group played the Mozart Suite and the Lustpiel Overture.

In riveted attention, John Jarvis, George Stone, and Ron Moroz listen to the strummed strains of guitarist Angelo Zarra.

Steve Foy, one of the Orchestra's promising 'cellists.

The Dance Band, led by Phil Ambrosino, performs at the Winter Carnival. This group supplied the entertainment for numerous school-sponsored functions throughout the year.

Hours of practice by James Sangiorgio and George Raff perfected their renditions in the piano ensemble.

Mrs. McDonald in action at a rehearsal of the Glee Club. Brian Trent provides the piano accompaniment.

The select chorus, which consists of the most able singers of the larger choral group, warms up at a Wednesday practice in the Cafeteria.

Brother Benignus and assistant moderator, Brother Robert, make some final adjustments on the equipment of Joe Tagliarini and Pete McHugh prior to the parade.

The miracle of St. Patrick's Day — snow blizzards raged the days before and after the parade. A providential pause enabled the Band, here embarking for Fifth Avenue, to carry out its assignment.

The heart of the Band's woodwind section: Martin Abruzzo, Joe Ferretti, and Jim Kiley.

Surrounded by Joe Mariangelo, Lou Chiappetta and Walter Tomasik, Phil Ambrosino sets the pace for an accordion trio.

Mr. Foster leads the way for his Orchestra during a practice session of the Mozart Suite.

Watching for a cue for his Band, Mr. Gilroy eyes the football contest between the Prep and St. John's played at Boy's High Field.

John Chierico, Dave McHugh, and Phil Ambrosino make up the trio of snorting saxes at a jam session in the Music Room.

Peter McHugh, concert master of four years, completes his final rehearsal for the Prep.

Bob Kelly hunts down the location of his Class from the seating chart in the Church vestibule.

School Retreat

Rev. Malachy Wall, O.F.M., the Retreat Master, in addition to the long hours he spent in the Confessional, delivered three instructions a day from the pulpit of St. Vincent's Church.

In conformity with the Franciscan ideal of education which places spiritual values above all others, three days of each year are set aside for a Retreat. Scholastic pursuits are suspended during this time so that the students' minds may remain undistracted. This year, Rev. Malachy Wall, O.F.M., conducted the Retreat from January 30th to February 2nd at St. Vincent de Paul's Church. As St. Francis no doubt would have desired, the San Fran of 1956 closes on this reminder of spirituality.

Prepsters stand at the end of Benediction as Father Wall and his assistants make their way to the Sacristy. On each of the three days of the Retreat this same service provided the closing ceremony.

Acknowledgments

The Staff of the 1956 SAN FRAN, all of whom regard the labors incurred in the analysis of Franciscanism as an enriching experience, wish here to extend sincere thanks to those who have contributed to this current yearbook.

To Father Fink for his aid in the matter of research, and for the many pictures he provided out of his personal photographic collection.

To Father Forest of St. Anthony's Guild, Paterson, N. J., for the use of Nature's Troubadour, (Copr. 1933), the painting of St. Francis on the Introduction page.

To the Courtesy of the Metropolitan Museum of Art for El Greco's View of Toledo used as the School Divider on page 14.

To the Alinari Brothers of Florence, Italy for the photograph of St. Francis Driving the Devils from Arezzo which was used as the divider for the Activities section.

To the Frick Collection for St. Francis in Ecstasy employed as the Underclassmen Divider.

To Holiday magazine and the Free Lance Photographers Guild, both of whom were instrumental in our acquiring the transparency of Castle Neuschwanstein used on the cover.

To Karl Cuyp, the curator of the Spencer Collection in the New York Public Library, for photostats of medieval illuminations.

To Mrs. De Morris of the Museum of Natural History for assistance in locating the appropriate Sunset Among the Redwoods used as a seasonal sub-divider in the Graduate section.

To Frank Merin, Bill Welter, John Oller, John Pignoli, and Shirley, the new telephone voice, from Lorstan Studios.

To the usual expert advice from the crew of the New City Printing Company with Fred Ball at the helm, Bill and Sal of the Art Department, ever-dependable Lucille, Danny on the final make-up, and those many others who work behind the scenes.

To the office staff of Joe Pandolfi, Rita Gallagher, and Helen Cassidy for their patience in our tracking down innumerable details through their records.

To Mickey Senko for his expert sports photography.

To Bartley Dunn, II for his nature scene used as a Graduate sub-divider.

To the Principal, faculty and our parents for their concessions and cooperation through many trying moments.
